Jetliner Crash On Mt. Fujiyama Kills 124

MIG's Hit Back

U.S. Warplanes Fly 61 Missions Over N. Viet Nam

Report 665 VC Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Battle reports told Saturday of a record air strike of 61 missions over North Viet Nam, with a missile site among the targets, and the death of 665 Communist troops in heavy action in the South.

U.S. Marines, Vietnamese troops and planes slashed at enemy soldiers seeking to flee entrapment in coastal Quang Ngai Province. The allies said they had killed 466 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars in the fight that erupted Friday northwest of Quang Ngai city, the capital.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade clashed with a reinforced North Vietnamese battalion below Tuy Hoa, on the coast 240 miles northeast of Saigon. They reported 105 enemy dead and four machine guns among captured arms.

A battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, in a dawn battle on a rubber plantation about 40 miles north of Saigon, drove off an encircling enemy after killing 50 and capturing four.

Three squadrons of jet fighter-bombers caught a Viet Cong detachment in the open in the central highlands 100 miles northeast of Saigon and mowed down 44 of them.

Over-all allied casualties were reported light, but a U.S. Marine company was among units hit hard and three aircraft were lost.

The Marine company, returning to its base on a barren hill it held for a while in the Quang Ngai action Friday, had to call in elements of another company to help carry them back.

A U.S. Air Force F4B Phantom was shot down near Can Tho, in the Mekong River Delta. Its two crewmen parachuted and were picked up uninjured.

Down Plane, Copter Viet Cong attacking the Big Red One's battalion on the rubber plantation shot down a U.S. F100 Super Sabre fighter-bomber and a helicopter.

The Super Sabre's pilot ejected and landed safely.

The helicopter was hit and crashed after delivering ammunition needed to replenish the battalion's dwindling supplies. The pilot was killed by a bullet on the way in. The copilot and four others perished on the way out.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely from the strikes Friday north of the border.

which stirred Hanoi's Soviet-built MIG jet fighters into a defensive effort for the first time this year.

Air Force pilots reported the MIGs made three passes at the American planes but no U.S. planes were hit. There also was heavy anti-aircraft fire.

A Peking broadcast quoted North Viet Nam's government as saying four U.S. planes, including an unmanned reconnaissance craft, were shot down.

The U.S. Navy carriers Hancock and Ranger dispatched 34 missions over the North; the U.S. Air Force 27. Though there was no announcement of the number of planes involved, the total was a half dozen more missions than the 55 losses the day before in what a spokesman had called "our maximum effort."

Freakish Winds Rip Plane Apart

GOTEMBA, Japan (AP) — A British jetliner with 124 persons aboard — at least 89 of them Americans — broke up in the freakish air over Mt. Fuji Saturday and fluttered like a leaf down to disaster on the sacred mount's slopes.

(BOAC officials in New York said there were 90 Americans aboard.)

Aviation experts, probing the wreckage, said Sunday freak air currents and sudden severe winds may have ripped the British Overseas Airways Corp Boeing 707 apart minutes after take off from Tokyo's International Airport.

Japanese soldiers working under a full moon carried down the bodies of all 124 victims and placed them in wooden coffins in a Buddhist temple in Gotemba, 70 miles south of Tokyo.

Believe 89 Americans On Board

By AUSTIN SCOTT Associated Press Writer One couple had been married only two weeks. Another had won the trip with the single toss of a coin.

Dozens of refrigeration equipment dealers, who had won the free vacation by filling sales quotas, had brought their wives along.

These were among the Americans whose holiday in the Far East ended Saturday when a British jetliner crashed on the sacred slopes of Mt. Fuji, Japan.

The crash killed all 124 aboard. Many of the American couples had left school-age children at home. Seventy-five were in a single tour group sponsored by Thermo King Corp., a refrigeration equipment manufacturer in Minneapolis, Minn.

Ray Chamberlain was one. Chamberlain, his wife and two young daughters came to Wichita, Kan., 18 months ago to become partners in a truck refrigeration firm that held a Thermo King franchise.

Fatal Flap When the Chamberlains learned their firm had won one of the trips, they flipped a coin with the partners to see who got to go. The Chamberlains won.

James Walker of Miami, Fla., vice president and general manager of a Miami Thermo King distributorship, had telephoned an associate Friday to say "The trip was a real breeze so far. Everybody was having a wonderful time."

Walker, who had his wife along, left a teen-age son at home, one of dozens of children orphaned by the crash.

Just two weeks earlier, the two children of Beverly West had seen their mother wed to Charles Heemstra of Detroit, owner-manager of a commercial refrigeration firm. The couple had left on the trip together, hoping to move into a newly purchased house when they returned.

Karl Kawa and his wife Elsie had left their three sons, 3, 5 and 12, at home in Dartmouth, Mass. Three youngsters, aged 1 (Continued On Page 13)

Raging Blizzard Leaves 11 Dead

FARGO, N. D. (AP) — A deadly and devastating blizzard eased in some sectors Saturday but raged for the fourth day in other parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The Weather Bureau called it one of the most savage blizzards in recorded history.

A "crawl-out" began in Western North and South Dakota, where cities and towns were benumbed and isolated by the combination of heavy snow and winds up to 100 miles an hour. At least 11 persons were known dead.

Authorities feared the toll would rise. At least 13 persons were missing.

100 Feet Away Searchers found the frozen body of Betty Dieder, 13, a North Dakota farm girl who never returned to her home after she went to a chicken coop 100 feet away to close a banging door.

The body was located about half a mile from the house. Swirling snow was so treacherous and visibility so poor that searchers feared to separate. Groups of six men tied themselves together with rope, and fanned out over the snow drifts.

Searchers said the storm was "terrible" as they hunted.

The tales of those who survived in stalled cars were harrowing.

To keep from freezing, they ripped fence posts loose and burned them in the car. The men had nothing to eat but three sweet rolls, and snow.

Three other men who vanished in North Dakota Wednesday trudged to a farm house when the wind dropped off. They said they stayed in their car and ran the engine intermittently for heat after the car became stuck.

Snowplows began churning the mountainous drifts where the storm abated. In areas where the blizzard continued in full force, there was no automobile travel and walking was virtually impossible.

Republicans Beat Johnson To The Punch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighteen House Republicans beat the administration to the punch Saturday and announced plans to introduce a civil rights bill carrying out President Johnson's major recommendations.

The bill, aimed mainly at ending discrimination in jury selection and protecting civil rights workers against violence, will be introduced Monday, the GOP members said.

In his State of the Union address Jan. 12, Johnson said he would propose legislation along the same lines; but nothing has yet emerged from the Justice Department.

Indirect Attack The Republican bill would get at the problem of jury selection by proposing that federal jurors be selected at random from voting lists. It would then establish a presumption that state courts that do not follow a similar selection system may be discriminating.

A defendant in a state court could have his case tried in the federal court if the federal court found the state court's jury selection system to be discriminating.

In making the proposal, the Republicans said, "It is futile to take civil rights controversies from the streets into the courts if the administration of justice lacks uniform equity and force."

Johnson aimed at the same goal in his Jan. 12 message, calling for legislation "to establish unavoidable requirements for nondiscriminatory jury selection in federal and state courts."

The GOP bill seeks also to protect individuals against interference in the exercise of a federally protected right by public officials or private individuals. It would be accomplished by strengthening existing statutes and increasing penalties for violators.

"It is empty," the GOP members said, "to declare our commitment to equal rights if men and women can be persecuted for exercising those rights."

It will be submitted at the Law Institute's annual meeting in May and has been distributed to members of the American Bar Association for consideration at the association's annual meeting in August.

National Debate The proposals come amid a national debate on police practices and are likely to spark further controversy. While they would restrict some common police practices they are likely to be received in some judicial circles as not going far enough to protect the rights of police suspects. It is understood the proposals generated considerable controversy within the ranks of the institute itself.

At the moment, the Supreme Court is wrestling with constitutional problems posed by police practices, particularly suspects' access to lawyers and the use of confessions in criminal prosecutions.

The proposed code holds that "at no time may an arrested person be held incommunicado in order to facilitate the investigation."

However, it also holds that a law enforcement officer may arrest a person without a warrant if the officer has reasonable cause to believe the person committed a felony.

The proposals are presented as suggested laws for the states, although they also could be adopted as rules of procedure by courts.

The Law Institute is a private, 1,500-member group of prominent judges, lawyers and law professors dedicated to improvement of law procedures, council.

Jury Deadlocked In Mossler Trial

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Mossler murder trial jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked Saturday, but Circuit Court Judge George Schulz said he would keep the 12 men in session at least through Sunday in an effort to reach a verdict.

Prospects for an eventual agreement appeared dim in view of the language of a note sent to the judge. The jurors said they were widely split over the guilt or innocence of both Candace Mossler and Melvin Lane Powers.

The blonde Mrs. Mossler is charged with masterminding and Powers with carrying out the slaying of her husband, Jacques, head of a multi-million-dollar bank and loan company chain.

After a conference with opposing attorneys in his chambers, Judge Schulz sent a written reply to the jury, instructing it to try again "in fairness to both the state and the defendants."

No Progress When no progress was reported by 6:30 p.m. he told the jury to come back Sunday and deliberate at least another day.

After the note was received, Harvey St. Jean, one of the attorneys for Powers, objected vigorously to a continuation of the jury arguments and asked for a mistrial.

The terms of the jury's report, St. Jean said, indicated no hope for any eventual agreement.

Soviets Assure West No Germs Reached Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — There was assurance from Tass Saturday for Western scientists who feared that earthly germs might have been borne to Venus by the unmanned Soviet satellite Venus 3, which crash-landed on the planet Tuesday.

The descending apparatus of Venus 3 was sterilized before the start to destroy all terrestrial micro-organisms and to prevent their possible carriage to Venus, the Soviet news agency said.

Various British and American authorities had felt proliferating microbes were hitchhikers on the one-ton capsule, which hit Venus after a 25 million-mile flight through space.

The report of the sterilization came in a long article devoted to the flight and its aims. Tass gave a detailed description of a planned soft landing without actually saying it had failed.

"Venus 3 was to have landed on the surface of Venus in the center of the visible disk of the planet," the agency said. "A soft landing on Venus was planned by means of a parachute system."

Later Tass revised its account to eliminate the word "soft" from this sentence. The correction appeared to be in line with the normal Soviet practice of never announcing anything as planned in a space flight unless it is actually accomplished.

The jury retired Thursday night, came back into court Friday for lengthy rereading of the testimony of several witnesses, and resumed deliberations Saturday morning.

The state charged that Mrs. Mossler conceived and Powers carried out "brutal, unwarranted murder" of her husband, head of a $33-million bank and loan company empire. The motives, the prosecution said, were "greed, avarice, lust and money."

Defense lawyers claimed that the state had proved only a torrid love affair between the codefendants.

It Takes Sacrifices To Beat Viet Cong

BAU BANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — When downed over a Vietnamese rubber plantation shows you are surrounded by an enemy determined to kill you, what does it take to win the battle?

Some American infantrymen — the 2nd Battalion of the 28th Regiment, 3rd brigade, 1st Division — came up with the answers in a clash Saturday about 40 miles north of Saigon.

Caution First if look, caution, represented by outpost guards watching through the night.

A detail from B Company got the first sight of the enemy. There must have been a company of them moving down a trail.

"Hold your fire," said the lieutenant in command. "Let the Claymores get them."

Two Claymore mines, electrically detonated devices that spray hundreds of steel pellets like a shotgun, had been posted to cover the trail.

Armed Viet Cong passed within five feet of one of the Americans, Sgt. Donald Baxter of St. Louis, Mo.

Then the twin Claymores blasted out. In the screaming and confusion, the Americans moved back.

Sacrifices Now it took sacrifice. As the Americans retreated, they bumped into the rear of another enemy company. The lieutenant and an enlisted man were hit.

As Sgt. Baxter carried the wounded enlisted man, the rest of the squad fought their way through. But not the lieutenant. He waved at Baxter in the dawn light and moved back up the trail.

Single handedly, he held off the second Viet Cong company while the squad reached the safety of the American lines.

Found five hours later, the lieutenant was dead.

By this time, the fight was on hot and heavy.

At this point it took organization.

The Viet Cong launched the main attack from the east at 6:40 a.m. then came stabs from the southeast, south and west.

The Americans were dug in shallowly in a clearing among young rubber trees.

Lt. Col. Kyle Bowie, the battalion commander, took over. He figured that two battalions of Viet Cong and possibly a regiment were attempting to overrun them.

Cool Command He coolly radioed his company commanders: "Keep laying down a base of fire."

Then if the firing slackened in one area he would tell them to move out after the enemy.

What else did it take to win? It took skill. Lt. John Snook of Charlottesville, Va., as the forward artillery observer, brought in artillery fire from Lai Khe, five miles away. Salvo after salvo crashed on the heads of the attacking enemy.

Then came the air support, F100 jet fighter-bombers and propeller-driven A1H skyraiders. They attacked through intense ground fire.

One F100 was shot down. The pilot ejected and was safe.

The battalion was running dangerously short of ammunition and a helicopter crew volunteered to fly in additional supplies.

The pilot, a veteran, was shot dead in the approach over the rubber trees. But the copilot took over and brought the helicopter down safely. He and the crewmen kicked out the ammunition. As the helicopter flew off, more enemy fire slashed into it, killing the copilot.

In the resulting crash, the four others on the plane — two crewmen and two infantrymen — were killed.

These then were the things it took to win the battle of Bau Bang: Caution, sacrifice, organization, leadership, skill and courage.

And throw in some luck. The battalion had taken only light casualties. The bodies of 50 Viet Cong were found on the field.

Editor's Note — Malcolm Browne knows Viet Nam from border to border. He has been there since 1961, longer than any other American reporter. He won a Pulitzer Prize as an war reporter on the war fronts. Now he is a free-lance writer who maintains close contacts with the men who map strategy and the men who do the fighting. He wrote this analysis for The Associated Press.

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Americans in and out of uniform here have received the word: win the war in Viet Nam by 1967, or else.

The word, of course, has come from Washington, where casualties of 100 Americans killed each week are becoming increasingly unacceptable. Bringing the war to the point at which these heavy casualties stop is now the prime (although unspoken) objective here.

The heat is on from top to bottom, and it is obviously coming directly from the White House.

(At White House press headquarters in San Antonio, Tex., deputy press secretary Robert E. Fleming issued the following statement:

"The White House does not make a practice of discussing individual news stories, but I want to make an exception here. I have seen a report distributed by the Associated Press for Sunday papers in which Malcolm Browne reports that our military and civilian leaders in Viet Nam are under White House orders to 'Win the war by 1967, or else.'"

"We have not been asked for comment, but I have talked with the President about this story. He has never heard of such an order. It is absolute fiction. The President wants the end of hostilities tomorrow, if possible, but this story is made up out of whole cloth."

No official in Viet Nam would ever publicly admit the existence of a timetable of victory. Too many officials in the past have had their fingers burned by making overoptimistic predictions about the collapse of the Viet Cong.

All the same, a timetable exists. The big hope is that within one year the Viet Cong will no longer be able to deploy large units and therefore will lack the ability to inflict heavy American casualties.

That is phase one.

Plan Elections Phase two involves bringing the land under government control to the extent that free general elections can be held without fear of a Communist victory.

Saigon's leaders have exacted a promise from lower officials that at least 76 per cent of the nation's population will be under government control by then. (Continued On Page 13)

Ask Support For New Police Procedure Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's judges and lawyers were asked Saturday to support a code of police procedures that would require warning an arrested person he may remain silent and may consult a lawyer, family or friends.

Prepared for the American Law Institute under a grant from the Ford Foundation, the proposed prearrest code would, among other things:

Require police to tape record "any questioning involving more than a few brief questions" and make the recording available to defense counsel in any legal proceeding.

Bar the use of lie detector tests or similar devices in questioning an arrested person unless he has consented in writing.

Permit police to make arrests only where "the constitutionally required standard of reasonable cause was met."

Require that an arrested person be taken before a judge or magistrate as soon as possible.

At the same time, it would permit police to question persons whether a lawyer was present and the requirement of "reasonable cause" to make an arrest could be disregarded in certain circumstances. In some cases police interrogation in the absence of a lawyer would be limited to four hours in less serious crimes and to 22 hours in heinous offenses.

The proposals are largely the work of James Vorenberg, executive director of President Johnson's National Crime Commission, and Paul M. Bator, like Vorenberg a Harvard law professor, who worked with a committee of judges, lawyers and police officials. The code has been approved in principle by the Law Institute's governing council.

Taylor Urges N. Viet Harbor Be Closed WASHINGTON (AP) — Maxwell D. Taylor, one of President Johnson's top advisors, believes that the important supply harbor of Haiphong in North Viet Nam should be closed by U.S. mines.

The opinion of Taylor, retired general and former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was made in a written addition to his public testimony at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing Feb. 17.

To date, the North Viet Nam capital of Hanoi and the main supply harbor of Haiphong have been spared bombing or action by U.S. air and naval forces.

Taylor's advocacy of closing the harbor came in answer to 26 questions by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., submitted Feb. 17 for written replies to save time during the televised hearings.

Symington, former secretary of the Air Force, asked in writing: "If we are really serious about curtailing the flow of war material from North Viet Nam to the South, would it not be to our interests to neutralize the port of Haiphong?"

Gen. Taylor's published reply: "There have always been pros and cons to the use of our air power to neutralize the port of Haiphong. The question of the proper timing is always involved in this matter."

"I am inclined to believe that the time has been reached when we should mine this harbor and cut off the shipping which normally uses it."

Symington also raised questions of possible Red Chinese intervention in Viet Nam or nearby.

Taylor said he hesitated to "express a view on the elusive subject of Chinese motivation" but then added there were a number of good reasons "to deter the Chinese from a deliberate intervention in South Viet Nam or any other action in deliberate extension of the war."

Damyankee Lampoons Prejudice In South

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A damyankee named Phil Erickson nightly lampoons the racial feelings of the solid South—and gets away with it—in a de-segregated Atlanta cabaret called Wits' End.

In a typical skit which would have been unthinkable here a few years ago, three masked girls come onstage in the garb of the Ku Klux Klan. They do a dance, singing:

"We're the female members of the KKK,

"The P-T-A of bigotry.

"We can bomb a church as well as any man,

"And at lynchings, we rig the tree."

One by one they remove their masks. The first two are white, the third Negro.

Erickson, a former Danville, Ill., townsman and stage partner of comedian Dick Van Dyke, says:

"Southerners can take a lot of ribbing, although it's only in the last 2½ years we felt we could go into the racial angle.

"Until then, my stockholders wouldn't have approved. For one thing, they've become more broad-minded, and so has the public. The truth is, the racial bit isn't as pungent as it used to be. It's getting to be almost old hat."

Wits' End is packed nightly with a mixed but predominantly white audience. The jokes are on the Southern white costumers, but the sharpest barbs win laughter and applause.

"I see where one of our boys has been selected by Time magazine as man of the year," says a white politician in one skit, referring to Dr. Martin Luther King.

"And what have you done to honor him?" asked a newsman.

"Well, we've decided to let him register to vote," says the politician, and the customers roar.

Another favorite skit spoofs Lester Maddox, who closed his Atlanta restaurant rather than comply with a court order to desegregate.

Members of the troupe include Erickson and his wife, Nancy, Bill Sims, Kay Mason and Janet Meshad, who are white, and Sally Street, a Negro. Chief writer is Jack Kaplan, an advertising man.

Erickson opened the cabaret eight years ago. He said he has received so many inquiries about his show from other Southern spots that he is forming a road company.

"Starting March 5, we're doing country clubs, theaters and colleges in cities over the Southeast," says Erickson.

"And we've had requests from Macon and Columbus, Ga., Greenville, S.C., and Montgomery, Ala., to use some of our racial skits in their own theater group. Some have even paid royalties to use our material."

Thomas Salrin

MT. STERLING — Thomas Salrin, 16, a junior at St. Mary's Academy in Mt. Sterling, is one of four high school students from throughout the nation invited to address the 1966 National Youthpower Congress to be held March 30-April 2 in Chicago.

His invitation to address the congress is based on excellence in project work following last year's program when Salrin was a delegate.

Each of the four national winners will give a report to the entire Youthpower Congress delegation regarding their activities following the 1965 meet. They will also construct displays showing their activities in youthpower.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS AT STATE MEETING

Three well-known Jacksonville funeral directors were among those present when Michael J. Howlett, state Auditor of Public Accounts, addressed a seminar sponsored by the Illinois Funeral Directors Assn. Feb. 23 in the St. Nicholas hotel, Springfield.

The trio included Frederick Cody, of Cody Funeral Home; Harlan Williamson Jr., of Williamson Funeral Home; Auditor Howlett and William Buchanan, of Gillham-Buchanan Funeral Home.

Funeral directors from downstate Illinois counties attended the seminar. Howlett asked them to help him enforce strictly the state funeral and burial funds law.

The law provides that money paid for funeral services in advance of need shall be held in trust until the need arises. Trustees are licensed by the Auditor, must make their records available to him, and must see that they are properly bonded.

"At least 29 states now have laws regulating the sale of pre-arranged funeral contracts," said Howlett. "But even where there are no state laws, the funeral directors, through their own association, discourage pre-need burial contracts that are not surrounded by adequate safeguards to protect the public."

Grandma's Changing Diapers Once Again

By CARL C. CRAFT

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — A woman with 11 grandchildren is changing diapers again. And this time she's doing it under a $91,000 government project.

"I give him general baby care — bathing, feeding, changing his diaper, rocking him, loving him," said Mrs. Eva Trumbull about her new duties.

Mrs. Trumbull has become a foster grandparent to a 20-month-old boy who is mentally retarded.

She is one of 24 persons, ages 60 to 83, who are paid to take care of retarded children at the Laconia State School in what one official describes as "a labor of love."

The grandparents must be at least 60 and have incomes of less than $1,800 a year. They receive $1.25 an hour for four hours work each day.

The "foster grandparents" pilot project is one of the first four to begin under the federal anti-poverty program.

"We would like them to realize they are still useful citizens and still have a role to play in life," said Vallance A. Wickens, project director.

The children need care, and

All the children are under 5 years old. Their parents have either abandoned them or cannot afford to care for them.

A letter from Madison, Wis., reads:

"I opened the king of hearts and continued with the queen after South allowed me to hold the first trick. South took that trick in dummy and, after stewing around awhile, led a club. My partner played the deuce and South took the trick with the jack. Then South cashed the king of clubs. My partner dropped the queen and after some more stalling South led his last club and finessed against my ten. Then he discarded one spade on the ace of clubs and wound up losing only three tricks. I congratulated South on his play but my partner blamed me for not either opening a spade or shifting to that suit at trick two. What's your opinion?"

South's play was excellent. He must have reasoned that East held 10 cards in diamonds and spades for his bids. It also turns out that West's trump leads were rather helpful in that when South finessed against the ten of clubs he was not risking a two-trick set.

That does not mean any criticism at all of the initial trump lead. In fact we know of no expert who would not have opened the king of hearts. Hearts had been bid and raised and West could not be expected to know that dummy would have no ruffing power at all. An expert probably should have shifted to the spade at trick two but we have a hunch that South would have been equal to the occasion and played the clubs exactly the same way.

Even an initial spade play might not have beaten the hand. South could cash dummy's ace of trumps and then play clubs exactly the same way.

Decatur Girl, Robt. Wright Vows In Chicago

A former Decatur girl, Miss Carolyn Lynn Meyer and Robert Lee Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Offord Wright, 833 South Fayette street, were united in marriage Feb. 22nd, at St. Thomas the Apostle Catholic church in Chicago. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Maud A. Meyer of Decatur and the late William P. Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Jones, Jr. of Chicago, sister and brother-in-law of the groom, attended the couple. John Adams of Chicago seated guests.

The bride chose a white knit suit with pink accessories for the mid-winter ceremony.

The bride attended Stephen Decatur High School and was employed by the Decatur Currency Exchange, Inc. for seven years before moving to Chicago. She is presently employed by the Hanover Insurance Company in that city.

The groom graduated from Jacksonville High School and served in the U.S. Air Force. He is employed by Rider-Dickerson Printers in Chicago where the couple is residing.

Milwaukee Editor Stresses Freedom In Banquet Talk

"The aim of news—the aim of life itself—can only be to increase the sum of freedom and responsibility to be found in every man and in the world."

"It cannot, under any circumstances, be to mislead the citizen or to reduce or suppress any freedom, even temporarily."

The charge to some 400 student journalists from colleges and high schools throughout the midwest was made Friday night by Arville Schaleben, associate editor of the Milwaukee Journal, principal speaker at the 13th annual MacMurray College Newspaper Conference banquet.

The banquet program was held in the college dining hall, and was one of the highlights of the two-day event which ended Saturday.

Schaleben's address was titled "News, Newspapers and You," and aimed at the student journalists whose responsibilities include editing a long list of high school and college publications.

"The journalist's right and duty to pierce other minds exists most widely and most freely in America. I think I see," Schaleben said, "in our straining and trefful world, that the journalists of your generation are going to be world-wide journalists, and that our free speech way of life may depend upon how well they understand their place as Americans on this earth."

"Plenty of people are rightly worried about subversive influences in this country. It is the duty of the press to report their fears and why they are afraid. But the worthy press," he said, "is the press that also prints the calm, deliberate, analytical work of alert, level-headed reporters, striving to tell about all of the world so we can better understand our part of it."

Freedom Of Press

"I can think of no more important combination for democracy's welfare than the well developed citizen and his free access to sound news."

"News is, indeed, the liaison between the government and the citizenry and between society and the individual," Schaleben concluded.

Milburn P. Akers, conference founder and retired editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, presided over the banquet program and introduced a long list of professional journalists who served as faculty members for the conference.

Akers is a trustee of the college and gave the conference its start 13 years ago by inviting several of his friends in Chicago journalism circles to visit the MacMurray campus as advisors to the student newspaper. Since that time, the conference has grown in scope to include high schools and colleges from five states in the midwest. The faculty has also been expanded and is representative of journalism throughout the midwest.

MacMurray President Dr. Gordon E. Michelson welcomed the student journalists and awarded certificates to faculty members who had made the annual trek to the campus five and ten years in succession.

Three awards were made to student publications, designated as the Karin Walsh Journalism Awards, in memory of the former city editor of the Chicago Sun-Times who served as dean of the professional journalism faculty and toastmaster for twelve years. Walsh, now deceased, was represented at the conference by his wife and two sons.

The award to a small college was presented to Stevens College of Columbia, Mo. The award for the large college went to University of Kansas at Lawrence and the best high school publication honors was picked up by Proviso Township high school in suburban Chicago.

Ashland Board OKs Plans For New Classrooms

ASHLAND—Plans to proceed with the construction of two new classrooms were approved at the regular meeting of the Board of Education on Monday night.

Plans for the rooms were discussed with Harry Fernandes, architect. Don Danenberger will be in charge of the project. Ashland Electric will do the electrical work and Jim Edwards was awarded the plumbing and heating contract.

The estimated cost of the project is $30,000.00 and is to be paid over a two to three year period.

The rooms are to be constructed on the east side of the grade school. The present drive on the east side of the building will be closed. A U-drive will be made south of the new rooms to Buchanan street.

Additional space is needed to accommodate the special education programs that are now required by law as well as to take care of the normal growth of the school.

The proposed Springfield Junior college district was discussed.

John Bartling was granted a year's leave of absence. Mr. Bartling has been awarded a scholarship to attend the University of Illinois for one year. At the end of that time he will receive a Master's degree.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Robinson will teach math in grades six to 12, during the 1966-67 school year.

Harold Elliott, superintendent, reported that he appeared before the School Problems Commission in Macomb Feb. 18th. The theme of his report was schools should be evaluated on quality rather than size of enrollment.

The TMH special education program for the county will be in Ashland. Miss Elizabeth Frazer will be the instructor. Bills for the month were approved in the amount of $7,843.22. Of this amount $2,056 was for the lunch program.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week endured its third straight week of sharp decline. Trading was the heaviest in history.

Volume for the week was 50,406,720 shares compared with 32,647,540 for the four-day week previous, shortened by the Washington's birthday holiday.

The week's volume topped the record of 48.9 million reached in the week ended Dec. 11.

Wall Street was still beset by the same worries — Viet Nam, high interest rates, tightening money, the possibilities of higher taxes and government controls on business.

In addition, there was technical justification for taking long term profits on many glamour issues.

As an example, Fairchild camera, which has risen in 1965-66 from a low of 27 1/2 to a high of 216 3/4, fell 33 1/2 points last week to a close of 170 1/4.

There were many such high flyers on the New York and American stock exchanges. The surprising thing was that despite the sharp market downturn, quite a few other fast-stopping glamour issues advanced against the trend.

An odd feature of the declining market was that a cautious minority of traders refused to turn and run. In fact, most of the time the "little fellow" — as represented by odd-lot purchases and sales of lots less than 100 shares — was doing more buying than selling.

The fact that there was no real frightening selloff, with ticker tape running late for an hour or more, was a reason given by some analysts for the market's failure to mount a strong and sustained rally. They said this "kind of the air" and "to chase out the pessimists."

The Dow Jones industrial average last week fell 20.66 to 932.34. At 1 p.m. Thursday it had fallen to 926.83, but there it found technical support and rallied sharply. From the closing high of 935.15 reached Feb. 9 to the week's low on Thursday the drop in the Dow was 68.32 — still not much compared with last June's drop of nearly 100.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, last week fell 7.3 to 349.3, equal to last week's decline, which was the sharpest since the week ended last June 26 when it fell 9.8.

Heavy selling in American Telephone, whose dividends yield compares unfavorably at 3.76 per cent with interest yields of 5 or more per cent on some bank deposits, bonds and other obligations, was one factor which depressed the market.

Bond prices continued to be weaker in most market sectors the past week as credit demand continued to expand and interest rates moved higher.

Corporate, municipal and long-term treasury bond prices declined. Most market analysts believe prices will continue to fall and interest rates will continue to advance.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $79.06 million.

Education Topic For Roodhouse Rotarians

Other Jerseyville Rotarians accompanying Mr. Carey to the meeting were Richard Gubser, president, and Dick Lock.

The dinner was served by the Khoury League Mothers.

Roodhouse News Dr. G. L. Childress was in Chicago, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Feb. 21, 22 and 23, attending the 64th annual convention of the Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

Stephen Brooks, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Martin of this city, captured the Class C championship of the annual Fur Rendezvous meet in Anchorage, Alaska, on Feb. 19. Stephen was captain of the Orah Clark Jr. High Team which won the junior high title. Teaming with Jim Franford of Anchorage, Stephen and Jim won the open doubles as well as the class C doubles.

The Fur Rendezvous is a ten-day annual event which was climaxed on Feb. 27 with the finals of the World Dog Sled Race championship.

Stephen, formerly of Roodhouse, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Brooks of Anchorage.

Byron McLamar has entered the Passavant hospital, Jacksonville, for observation and tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Early, Joliet, visited during the weekend with their son, Ronald Early and wife and family, Roodhouse, and with other area relatives.

Rare Species In A Man's War

By TOM TIEDE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. BIEN HOA, Viet Nam — (NEA) — Susan Boppell is a girl.

She is also a Californian (Santa Cruz), a college graduate (Whittier) and a Red Cross worker.

But to the 200,000 GIs in Viet Nam, Susan Boppell is most importantly a girl.

She's a rare species in this masculine war, a round-eyed, hubba-hubba, oh, you kid! She could have a date every evening and not run out of fresh until the year 2541.

When she slips into whatever it is women slip into, and walks through a bivouac area, the already tropical temperature rises to roughly that of the sun's surface.

"My, myyyyy!" the GIs howl. "Catch me," they shout, "I'm fainting."

"Hey," one will say to another, "you know what that tracks at 2 a.m. But, for the most part, nobody monkeys around. And thank goodness for that, because Sue Boppell has enough to worry about as it is.

Blizzard Volunteer Union Labor Helping To Ready Pool

Only snowmobiles, little motorized vehicles on tracks, kept going. Police used the rigs as emergency squad cars.

FINLAND, Minn. (AP)—The mess hall at isolated Finland Air Force Radar Station is down to one day's supply of food and the menu is beans and hot dogs three meals a day, the station's commander said Saturday night.

At the station are 220 airmen, 63 of them with their families. The only road leading to the station, which is atop a 1,950-foot peak near this tiny hamlet along the north shore of Lake Superior, is filled with 15-foot high snowdrifts.

The howling winds and heavy snow in the big blizzard which struck Minnesota and the Dakotas three days ago blocked the road completely. The station has been isolated for three days.

Five Roseau, Minn., men with snowmobiles chugged 120 miles to Grand Forks, N.D., to pick up Roger Dick, Seattle, Wash., thwarted by the blizzard as he tried to go to Roseau to see his critically ill father.

Near Strasburg, in south-central North Dakota, Carleen Welk, 6, became lost between the family's farm house and barn Thursday evening. The girl was following her brothers to the barn in the blinding blizzard when she vanished.

The body of Earl Thomas, Rapid City, S.D., salesman, was found after authorities battled all night to reach his ditched car near Faith, S.D. Thomas froze to death.

Five airplanes in a hangar at Sturgis were destroyed. Snow blew through cracks in the building with such force it piled up 10 feet over the planes, crumpling them.

The Weather Bureau said the blizzard "undoubtedly" was the worst in recorded history. The record-breaking snow included 35 inches at Moberg, S.D. 15 1/2 inches at Rapid City, S.D. 15 1/2 inches at a 24-hour span. Other heavy snowfalls included 14 inches within 24 hours at Grand Forks, N.D., where a total of 29 inches, and 12 inches at Aberdeen, S.D., for a storm total of 17 inches.

From two to three feet of snow covered the area from north-central South Dakota through eastern North Dakota and into northern Minnesota. Western North Dakota and eastern South Dakota had up to one foot.

Two ACCIDENTS OCCUR SATURDAY

Four vehicles were damaged in two separate accidents, and one driver cited following a collision, as icy city streets led to several accidents in the area Saturday night.

State police reported at least five cars slid off the highway south of the city, and wreckers had to be dispatched to the area to remove the vehicles from ditches alongside of the highway.

No injuries were reported in any of the instances.

About 4:30 p.m. two cars were damaged at the intersection of Wolcott and North Main streets when a car driven by Jerald Mayner of 867 North Church, eastbound on Wolcott, pulled into the path of a northbound car, operated by Gerald H. Pool of Versailles.

Mayner was cited for failure to yield.

Shortly after five o'clock, an eastbound auto on West State street, driven by Charles J. Standley of 745 West Douglas, was struck by a vehicle operated by Earl M. Wallis of 774 East College, which was turning onto State from Dunlap court.

Volunteer Union Labor Helping To Ready Pool

Only snowmobiles, little motorized vehicles on tracks, kept going. Police used the rigs as emergency squad cars.

FINLAND, Minn. (AP)—The mess hall at isolated Finland Air Force Radar Station is down to one day's supply of food and the menu is beans and hot dogs three meals a day, the station's commander said Saturday night.

At the station are 220 airmen, 63 of them with their families. The only road leading to the station, which is atop a 1,950-foot peak near this tiny hamlet along the north shore of Lake Superior, is filled with 15-foot high snowdrifts.

The howling winds and heavy snow in the big blizzard which struck Minnesota and the Dakotas three days ago blocked the road completely. The station has been isolated for three days.

Five Roseau, Minn., men with snowmobiles chugged 120 miles to Grand Forks, N.D., to pick up Roger Dick, Seattle, Wash., thwarted by the blizzard as he tried to go to Roseau to see his critically ill father.

Near Strasburg, in south-central North Dakota, Carleen Welk, 6, became lost between the family's farm house and barn Thursday evening. The girl was following her brothers to the barn in the blinding blizzard when she vanished.

The body of Earl Thomas, Rapid City, S.D., salesman, was found after authorities battled all night to reach his ditched car near Faith, S.D. Thomas froze to death.

Five airplanes in a hangar at Sturgis were destroyed. Snow blew through cracks in the building with such force it piled up 10 feet over the planes, crumpling them.

The Weather Bureau said the blizzard "undoubtedly" was the worst in recorded history. The record-breaking snow included 35 inches at Moberg, S.D. 15 1/2 inches at Rapid City, S.D. 15 1/2 inches at a 24-hour span. Other heavy snowfalls included 14 inches within 24 hours at Grand Forks, N.D., where a total of 29 inches, and 12 inches at Aberdeen, S.D., for a storm total of 17 inches.

From two to three feet of snow covered the area from north-central South Dakota through eastern North Dakota and into northern Minnesota. Western North Dakota and eastern South Dakota had up to one foot.

Two ACCIDENTS OCCUR SATURDAY

Four vehicles were damaged in two separate accidents, and one driver cited following a collision, as icy city streets led to several accidents in the area Saturday night.

State police reported at least five cars slid off the highway south of the city, and wreckers had to be dispatched to the area to remove the vehicles from ditches alongside of the highway.

No injuries were reported in any of the instances.

About 4:30 p.m. two cars were damaged at the intersection of Wolcott and North Main streets when a car driven by Jerald Mayner of 867 North Church, eastbound on Wolcott, pulled into the path of a northbound car, operated by Gerald H. Pool of Versailles.

Mayner was cited for failure to yield.

Shortly after five o'clock, an eastbound auto on West State street, driven by Charles J. Standley of 745 West Douglas, was struck by a vehicle operated by Earl M. Wallis of 774 East College, which was turning onto State from Dunlap court.

MARK 62nd ANNIVERSARY

WHITE HALL — Mr. and Mrs. Orin Ranson observed their 62nd wedding anniversary at their home Feb. 22.

A dinner was served with members of their family, Truman Ranson, Mrs. Irene Jeffers, Miss Sharene Jeffers, Mrs. Marcella Clark and daughter, Mary attending.

LOOKING BACK AT REGIONAL

Looking back on the Regional, forward to the Sectional.

We were most impressed by the play of both Jacksonville and Virginia under pressure Friday night. At different points in the game each team had the momentum going their way and a mistake or two either way could have changed the entire tempo of the game. But, both clubs gathered their wits about them each time and refused to fold. That speaks highly of both teams and coaches.

Virginia's inspired play during their upset over New Berlin and their 68-61 loss to Jacksonville surprised a lot of people, including this writer. We felt the Redbirds put on a fine showing, having played lesser competition all season, and doing it on a foreign floor Friday.

Loose Ends:

Redbird rooters at the tournament reported that Virginia had not been in a Regional championship game since 1946, and had not won a Regional title since 1942. There was much discussion concerning a technical foul whistled on Virginia while the Redbirds were holding the ball near the ten-second line. The rule states that after 35 seconds an official must audibly warn the offense to move the ball across an imaginary line running across the top of the key within five seconds or have a technical. Virginia players said they did not hear the warning.

If you believe in records, the Jacksonville Sectional rates as the weakest in the state (not necessarily true). The local Sectional is the only one of the 15 next week without at least two 20-game winners. Top record for the Sectional here is Calhoun's 19-5 slate.

A good bet is that the local Sectional will have two of the most mentioned all-stars competing: Springfield's Dave Robisch, a 6-7½ junior averaging over 23 points a game, and JHS's Ron Coleman, averaging 21 per outing. Look for these two on all the all-star teams to come out in about two weeks.

Top first-round Sectional games next week include Quincy-Galesburg and Belleville-Collinsville, as all four of these are rated in the AP's top ten but because of the blind draw, must square off in the first round. Quincy has beaten Galesburg, while Belleville has handed defending state champion Collinsville its only two defeats of the season.

Worst record of a team winning a Regional is Maine East's 5-18 slate, while top-ranked Benton has the best, a perfect 28-0 mark. Teams with only one loss to date are Armstrong (29-1), Marengo (23-1) and Hamilton (26-1).

On the basis of regular-season performances, Springfield High has to be rated the team to beat in the local Sectional, with Jacksonville the runner-up choice. On the basis of competition, Pittsfield rates the nod over Calhoun.

HERE 'N' THERE: Bob Harlan, Director of Community Relations for the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals, will be the guest speaker at the JHS Boosters Club spring banquet, March 21, at 6:30 at the Blackhawk. Beardstown basketball coach George Pinkstaff is the latest prep mentor in the area to resign his post, effective at the end of the school year.

Former JHS athlete Wes Coulter helped Western Illinois win the IAC swimming title Saturday. Coulter, a senior at WIU, was on two winning relay teams, one of which set a new conference record, placed second in the 50-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard freestyle.

Butch Glossop, 26, bowled a 769 series at Winchester last Monday night, the highest series ever bowled at either Winchester or Jacksonville. Glossop started off with his low game, 236, getting better as he went along, with games of 245 and 288 for his 769 total. His 185 average is the highest in Winchester. Glossop has been bowling for five years.

Illinois College basketball coach Bill Merris was named Prairie College Conference "coach of the year" at the recent conference meeting. His Blueboys this year won their first PCC title ever, and finished with a 10-12 record, receiving a spot in the District NAIA tournament.

Also honored at the meeting were three members of the Blueboy team. The three, senior Max Greer (Rushville), junior Dick Clough (Carrollton) and sophomore Paul Runkle (Rushville) were selected to the ten-man All-Conference team. Greenville, Rose Poly and Blackburn each placed two players and Principia one.

SPARTANS CAPTURE LOOP TRACK TITLE

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State, accounting for two of three meet records, took the first three places in both the high and low hurdles Saturday to sweep to the Big Ten Indoor Track and Field Championship.

The Spartans, winning four of the 15 events, were led by All-

Big Ten junior football end Gene Washington, who zipped the 70-yard high barriers in a record .08.3 and won the lows in .07.9. MSU compiled 50 points while Wisconsin took second with 38. The Badgers won last year, nipping the Spartans 46 to 45½. Iowa was third with 35, followed by Michigan 34, Minnesota 22, Northwestern 18, Illinois 15, Indiana 11, Ohio State 7 and Purdue 1.

WHAT WERE YOU DOING AT THE STATE FARM PROFILE OF ACHIEVEMENT CONVENTION?

You were invited there for your outstanding sales record and because of the fine service you've been giving policyholders. But own up . . . is that really why you were at the convention?

Or was it to attend those business sessions that helped you keep current with the latest happenings in the insurance industry? Information that'll make you even better prepared to give knowledgeable service to all your policyholders.

Just as we thought.

When it comes to serving policyholders a State Farm agent is anything but conventional. Even at conventions.

Hoosiers Tip Spartans In 86-76 Upset

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's Hoosiers tripped a Michigan State team that was dreaming of Big Ten basketball honors and a berth in the National Collegiate tournament Saturday 86-76.

Michigan State's last slim chance of even tying for the league championship ended when Michigan defeated Northwestern later in the afternoon 105-92 for an 11-2 record.

State's Spartans now 9-4 going into their windup game against Michigan Monday night, were superior in everything except the vital statistic of field goal accuracy.

They out-rebounded the Hoosiers 53 to 32 and got off 15 more shots. But they hit only 29 of 80 attempts from the field for 36.3 per cent while Indiana was shooting at a 54.5 clip.

Michigan State sank only 11 of 43 field goal attempts in the first half and was down 36-28 at the intermission. It fought back to trail only 79-75 with 1:14 to play, but Matthew Aitch fouled out and a pair of free throws by Indiana's Butch Joyner started the Hoosiers' final drive.

The Indiana starters played without relief until the last 16 seconds and all scored in double figures. Max Walker and Vern Payne were high with 25 apiece. Stan Washington, who led Michigan State's second half rally, was high for the losers with 23.

The victory pulled Indiana out of the cellar with a 4-9 mark, leaving Purdue there alone after a 69-68 loss at Wisconsin.

Wisconsin Edges Purdue, 69-68, On Morenz' Shot

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Paul Morenz, a reserve guard, sank a 20-foot field goal with 11 seconds left Saturday and gave Wisconsin a 69-68 Big Ten basketball victory over Purdue.

Dave Schellhase, the nation's leading scorer, had given the Badgers a one-point lead 20 seconds before with a layup. The Badgers then worked for the ball against the clock, finally feeding Morenz who connected from the corner.

Wisconsin led at the half 40-32, but Purdue went ahead 55-54 with 10 minutes left. The lead then changed hands four times. Badger defenders held Schellhase to 29 points, three under his game average, but he was the scoring leader. Mike Carlin was high for Wisconsin with 15.

The victory gave the Badgers a 5-8 conference record and a season's standing of 10-13. Purdue, alone in the Big Ten cellar, is 3-10 in conference play.

Ohio was never headed, holding a 40-36 lead at intermission.

Midway in the second half, Ohio had pushed its lead to 70-52, but a strong rally by the Gophers brought them to within four points, 93-89, with 30 seconds remaining.

Bob Doering scored the final point for Ohio, netting a foul shot with only a second remaining.

Minnesota had been tied for third in the Big Ten with a 7-5 record. The Gophers are now 7-6 in the conference and 14-9 over-all.

Regional Winners Turn To Sectionals

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois' top-ranked teams—led by Benton, Thornton and defending champion Collinsville—step into sectional competition this week in the narrowing race for the Illinois prep basketball title.

The 60 regional champions battle Wednesday through Friday to determine the 15 quintets who will join the Chicago Public League champion in the state finals.

Benton's Rangers, ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, resume their title drive Thursday in the Harrisburg sectional. The Rangers are favored to sweep past Mount Vernon and meet the winner of the Metropolis-Harrisburg game Friday.

Benton, 28-0, seeks to become the sixth team in history to capture the state crown with an unbeaten record. Others were Taylorville (1944), Mount Vernon (1950), LaGrange (1953) Chicago Marshall (1958) and Collinsville (1961).

Thornton's third-ranked Wildcats square off against eighth-ranked Bradley in an opener at Blue Island Wednesday. Each club has suffered two setbacks. Bradley has won 19 games in a row.

Kahoks vs. Belleville

Another top sectional pits fourth-ranked Belleville against defending state champion Collinsville Thursday at East St. Louis. Collinsville, rated fifth has lost two games in 27 starts. Both were to Belleville.

Collinsville hopes to become the first school in a decade to win back-to-back state titles. Others were Elgin (1924-25), Mount Vernon (1949-50) and Rockford West (1955-56).

Two other rated teams—Galesburg and Quincy—meet in the Macomb sectional Thursday.

Galesburg, rated sixth, has won 16 straight in fashioning a 22-2 record. Eleventh-ranked Quincy, 19-4, handed Galesburg one of its two defeats.

Wheaton Central, upset victor over second-ranked Elmhurst York in the Glenbard East regional, takes on Harvard in the Aurora East sectional on Wednesday.

Harvard is one of the "Little David" district teams still in contention for the state crown. Another is Batavia, 25-2, which meets Proviso East at East Aurora Thursday and would play Harvard Friday if both clear opening round hurdles.

Braidwood is another district winner still in the running. This team with a 23-5 record meets Ottawa, 18-8, in the Ottawa sectional Thursday.

Armstrong, bearing a single defeat after emerging from the district and regional ranks and 30 games, tackles Paxton 18-4 at Champaign.

Fast-moving Decatur, striving to become the first school in history to snare five state championships, squares off against Lincoln Wednesday in the Normal sectional.

Third Meeting

NEW YORK (NEA) — To it. Probably to spite those blue Bill Russell, the wearing of a blade people for not using him goaties symbolizes his right to be a free thinker, to be independent of the main stream.

To Joe Namath, when he tried it, the goat was a convenient excuse not to shave. The first time was when he attended Alabama and when Joe came home to Beaver Falls, Pa., mama Namath took one look and pointed, "Get rid of it. You don't even look like a Hungarian."

At the American Football League All-Star game last January, Joe got all involved with Mamie Van Doren and turned up with his chin hirsute again — must have caught up with the legend of Samson somewhere. But on game day, Joe appeared as clean-shaven as the head of Telly Savalas (go look that one up).

"My ma," Joe explained, "she might be looking." The game was on television.

I figure the degree of independence varies with the size of the man. Rubin (Hurricane) Carter, the middleweight, once got the New York Boxing Commission in a tizzy because his mustache curved around like Fu Manchu and wound up somewhere around his chin. The fact he had a billiard ball in sheen didn't compensate. Before the show could go on, Hurricane had to get out the razor. He complied meekly.

On the other hand, Ernie Ladd, who's 6-9 and 320 pounds, and Wilt Chamberlain, who's 7-1 and 250, are as blithely as sportive as Russell in their right to sport whiskers. Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League notified his players, however, Ladd included — that goaties would henceforth be verboten as part of the uniform. Joe wasn't afraid that big Ernie, the lack of the San Diego Chargers, would get his mop and the cage of his helmet and choke himself. He thought it was merely bad for the image. I'll be interesting to see when the issue between Ernie and the ect is joined next fall.

No one has crossed Wilt on the subject. Bearded athletes have not been uncommon. The squad pictures of the old Yankees and the old Princeton always had a couple of hairy-chested specimens with handlebars. The first pro football team in Latrobe, Pa., sported four mustaches. One baseball generation ago, an outfielder named Frenchy Bordagaray showed up in the camp of the Brooklyn Dodgers (logical choice, that) looking like a gold prospector just in from Alaska. Casey Stengel, then the manager, gave him a choice — shave it off or join the House of David.

The House of David was a touring semipro club which fielded both baseball and basketball units that were big in the mid-1930s. If there was a cow pasture or a barn big enough for a court, they made the scene. The prime playing qualification was to grow a beard; theatrical fuzz wouldn't do.

It may be a coincidence that the suddenly sprouting goaties invariably show up on the Negro athletes. But it isn't. Russell, for instance, makes it a point of social significance. Secretly, he planned to get rid of his goaties once. But when he heard some snide comments, he decided obstinately to keep them.

Hanks Sees Speed Limits For Indy

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Unlike many drivers at the Indianapolis Speedway and other big car tracks around the country, Sam Hanks was never one for superstition.

In 1956, Hanks started the "500" in 13th position and finished second. The following year, his last as a race driver, Hanks again started in 13th and this time he won.

"I was even born on July 13th," Sam said. "By the time I won at Indy, I was too old to be superstitious." He was, at 43, the oldest man ever to win the Memorial Day grid.

Now Hanks is the director of racing at the Speedway. As such, he has no qualms about attacking another taboo of the track — making predictions. Hanks says that top speed at the Speedway is within three or four years of the saturation point. Many Indy drivers might agree with Hanks' prediction, but few would be caught saying it publicly.

"All things considered," Hanks said, "I just don't see

Two Jacksonville persons escaped serious injury when the car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned one mile east of Alexander near midnight Friday on U.S. 30-54.

Authorities identified the pair as Willie Dixon, 23, of 423 South Clay, driver of the car, and a passenger, Betty Gable, 21, who gave police a 1031 Mound address.

State police said that the westbound car went out of control after hitting an icy section of the highway, skidded off the south side of the road and overturned.

Police said Dixon's car stopped 40 feet away from the highway. A wrecker was deployed to extricate the vehicle from the landscape.

Southern Romps Past Evansville In Regional 90-77

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois stopped defending NCAA College Division champion Evansville (Ind.) 90-77 Saturday night and won the Great Lakes regional NCAA college basketball tournament.

SIU, which lost to Evansville in the national championship game last year, jumped off to a quick 10-2 lead but Evansville tied it 20-20 midway through the first half. The Salukis battled back on the shooting of Boyd O'Neal, who had 27 points to lead all scorers for the night, and lead 39-32 at intermission.

O'Neal and SIU's David Lee, who hit for 23 points, then started boosting the attack and Southern began to gradually pull away. SIU led by as much as 18 points at one time in the second period.

Larry Humes led Evansville scorers with 23 points.

In the first game, Lamar Tech defeated Indiana State 93-78 to take third place in the Great Lakes. T. Nelson Bruce scored 29 points for Tech.

LONG KENTUCKY DERBY LIST

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The list of 150 nominations for the 1966 Kentucky Derby is the longest since 1961 when 155 were named and 15 started.

Six fillies are among the 3-year-old thoroughbreds eligible for the 92nd running of the 1 1/4 mile race May 7 at Churchill Downs.

Moccasin, champion 2-year-old filly of 1965 and Horse of the Year, is rated as a possibility to become the first filly to win since Regret in 1915.

Will The Switch Mean A Pennant?

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
ATLANTA — (NEA) — In public, baseball players display their professionalism like a badge.

Ask, and the majority will tell you that if the money is right, they'll play on an iceberg in Greenland with seals for fans, and still hit .300.

Privately, though, it's a lot different and the players involved in the Milwaukee-Atlanta switch are prime examples.

The majority feels badly about leaving Milwaukee under the present circumstances but also realizes there are intangibles involved that may make the switch very profitable next October.

"Psychologically," says catcher Joe Torre, "the whole move has to make a difference on the field."

The difference involves the fans, and ballplayers, like actors, need them.

Johnny Callison of the Philadelphia Phillies explains it perfectly.

"The fans make a difference," he said, "when you go to Milwaukee and see a crowd of 3,000 in a park where you used to see 30,000 it has to affect the player."

"For me, it's like playing in another exhibition game. And every time I pick up the paper the morning after playing in a game like that I look for my name and see 'Callison, zero for five.'"

The question, then, is how will the franchise switch affect the Braves players. In the past, franchise switches generally have helped the new teams:

Team Fin To Fin
Boston (NL) 1952 7th, Milwaukee 1953 2nd.
St. Louis (AL) 1953 8th, Baltimore 1954 7th.
Phila. (AL) 1954 8th, Kansas City 1955 6th.
N. York (NL) 1957 6th, S. Francisco 1958 3rd.
Brooklyn (NL) 1957 3rd, Los Angeles 1958 7th.
Washington 1960 5th, Minnesota 1961 7th.

"Don't kid yourself," says Johnny Logan, the shortstop on the 1952 Boston team that moved to Milwaukee. "When we left Boston and went to Milwaukee, those people were so great that it seemed as though we wanted to play extra hard for them."

"Actually, ballplayers are show people. The more fans, the more they put out."

"I think this could make a difference in Atlanta this year no matter how the Milwaukee players feel about leaving town."

"Remember that first these guys are professionals. They'll play because it's their liveli-

1st Loss For Top-Ranked Wildcats

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — With Ron Widby hitting from the outside and Red Robbins inside, Tennessee beat top ranked Kentucky 69-62 Saturday in the biggest upset of the college basketball season.

Kentucky had won 23 straight games — 23 this season — and already had clinched the Southeastern Conference championship and a berth in the NCAA regional tournament.

Tennessee, with a great team effort, led most of the way and won the game going away in the final five minutes.

Widby, hitting consistently with jump shots from the outside, scored 22 points and shared high scoring honors with Kentucky's Pay Riley, who scored 18 of his 22 in the second half and kept the Wildcats in the contest.

The lead changed hands eight times in the second half before Tennessee forged ahead to stay. Robbins, 6-9 pivotman from Groveland, Fla., tossed in 18 points and with Howard Bayne helped control the backboards for Tennessee.

Robbins got 13 rebounds and Bayne, who missed the Tennessee-Kentucky game at Lexington last Saturday, grabbed 12. Kentucky whipped Tennessee last week, 78-64.

Bradley Keeps Tourney Hopes Alive, Wins 72-68

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ernie Thompson and Joe Allen kept alive Bradley's National Invitational Tournament hopes Saturday by shooting the Braves past St. Louis university, 72-68, in a regionally televised Missouri Valley Conference basketball game.

The Braves, finishing their regular season at 20-6, won at least a share of second place in the conference with a 9-5 mark. The Braves made up a 10-point first-half deficit, 36-26, mostly on the shooting of Thompson and Allen, who finished with 23 points each.

Allen's four baskets late in the final quarter kept Bradley alive and Thompson's basket tied the score for the final time at 62-62.

Thompson scored again to put the Braves ahead for good, 64-62, and Allen each added another basket to protect the lead in the final two minutes.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK — Mayor Byron Holkenbrink has proclaimed March 6-12 as Girl Scout Week in Jacksonville. Following the ceremony, Mrs. Frank McCarthy, right, president of the Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council, presented the mayor with a promissory note indicating a wide variety of services that the 730 girl scouts of Morgan county have promised to provide throughout the community this year. The proclamation paid tribute to Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. on its 54th anniversary and constancy of purpose which has guided the lives of more than 22 million members since the organization's founding, March 12, 1912.

I-55 Change Not Safe Charges Rep. Springer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Safety factors alone call for rejection of a proposal to alter the routing of Interstate 55 in Illinois, Rep. William L. Springer, R-Ill., said Saturday.

He made the statement in a letter to administrator Rex M. Whitton of the Public Roads Bureau, to which the plan of Gov. Otto Kerner was submitted.

Springer urged Whitton to make highway safety the prime consideration in a decision on the plan which he characterized as diverting I-55 away from the busiest and most direct Chicago-St. Louis route—the U.S. 66 corridor.

He recalled that Whitton, last September, wrote him that U.S. 66 "is the most important and heaviest-travelled trans-state route in Illinois and will remain so regardless of interstate routing."

Then Springer, in the letter which he released, said: "I concur. And since U.S. 66 will continue to carry the heaviest traffic, the deletion of any part of it from the interstate system is unjustified. The governor's proposal should be rejected on the highway safety factor alone."

"U.S. 66 should be made a limited access road all the way from St. Louis to Chicago. It should be upgraded to interstate standards as originally contemplated when the route of I-55 was laid out 10 years ago."

Springer noted that almost eight months have passed since the plan has been submitted to the public roads bureau and now reportedly is before Whitton for a final decision. It calls for building an interstate road between Lincoln and LaSalle-Peru. Kerner has suggested that inter-state funds be shifted from a segment of U.S. 66 between Joliet and Lincoln and used on the proposed new route.

The congressman commended Whitton and the bureau for hearing opposing points of view on the proposal and said he felt sure a decision "will reflect what you believe is best for the public interest."

"Nevertheless, with a general election coming up this fall, I feel that to delay this too long inevitably would involve the I-55 controversy in partisan politics," Springer wrote. "On the other hand, the land acquisition and advanced engineering problems that must be faced regardless of which location is selected surely must rule out postponing the decision until after the November election."

Aldermen Flooded With Mail Opposing Liquor Ordinance

Jacksonville aldermen have been bombarded with letters during the past week voicing objections to a section in the proposed liquor ordinance, presently under consideration by the city council.

One alderman disclosed that he has received as many as 20 letters from individuals and organizations complaining about the "Sunday opening" section of the ordinance.

In a poll taken Saturday, all aldermen revealed they had received mail concerning the change, and that in not one instance had a writer been "for" any part of the ordinance change.

Spearheading the campaign have been churches of the community, of which the most vocal have been the Central Christian church, Grace Methodist church, and Northminster Presbyterian church.

Form letters from the Methodist and Christian churches have been sent to all aldermen, Mayor Holkenbrink and City Clerk Harvey Green.

In the letter from the Methodist church, it quotes official board action taken November 15, 1965, opposing the new liquor ordinance.

Since that date the ordinance has undergone two revisions, but the church board reaffirmed its stand February 14, 1966 on their action taken in November.

At that time they objected to the "issuance of hard liquor licenses outside the central business zone."

Presently, the ordinance provides for a new class of licenses to hotels, bowling alleys, and motels, and allows sale of liquor on Sundays from 1 p.m. until 1 a.m. Monday within those places of business.

Reverend Frank Nestler, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, said that he was sure the board was unaware of this clause in the ordinance, and would oppose it if they had been informed.

Let Individual Decide Members of the church have been urged to express themselves on the matter of the proposed ordinance, but the letter did not indicate what opinion members should express.

Hand-written letters, on letterhead stationery from the Presbyterian church have been sent to aldermen, signed by individual members of the congregation, opposing the Sunday opening.

The official board of the Central Christian church commended both the mayor and councilmen for those changes in the ordinance which would "control more tightly the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors."

It further stated that "The members of the board urgently request that the matter of Sunday openings for the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages be reconsidered thoughtfully in the light of the total good of the community."

The board also urged that various types of licenses and their "geographic boundaries be specified before a final vote is taken."

Other group action has been from the Northminster Women's Church Association and United Church Women of the City of Jacksonville, and Berea Baptist church.

Several aldermen said they had also received numerous telephone calls from individuals.

Within their wards urging a vote against the proposed change concerning the Sunday opening. Following last week's council meeting, aldermen expressed the view that action would be taken within "the next few weeks."

However, no mention was made on the agenda for this Monday night's council meeting concerning the proposed ordinance change.

Jaycee Home Show Set For April 1-3 In Grant Building

Members of the Jacksonville Jaycee chapter are presently making preparations for the 1966 Jaycee Home, Sports and Travel show, which will be held April 1-3.

LeeRoy Jackson Jr. and Darrell Roegge, co-chairmen of the event, said that various committees have been arranged and are now working on all phases of preparation to guarantee that this year's show will be a success.

Jackson said this is the fifth annual "Home Show" and for the first time, it will be held in the W. T. Grant building on the east side of the public square.

Jackson stated that the first and second floors of the building will be used to furnish 11 booth spaces for businesses and organizations from this area.

Doors Open At Six Co-chairman Roegge said the show will open at 6 p.m. on Friday, April 1, with local dignitaries joining members of the Jaycees for the official ribbon cutting ceremonies.

The show will be open till 10 p.m. that night. The hours on Saturday, April 2, will be from noon till 10 p.m., and the show will be open on Sunday, April 3, from 1-6 p.m.

Admission will be 25¢ at the door, although several local merchants are expected to buy tickets in advance to give to their customers. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by their parents.

Co-chairman Jackson said arrangements are being made to prevent persons from having to wait outside before entering the show. He said this problem was realized last year when an estimated 10,000 persons attended the three-day event, and at times had to wait in a block-long line before entering.

New Features Among the features at this year's show will be the awarding of prizes for the outstanding booths.

Interest in this phase of the show has grown each year, and the co-chairmen said they anticipate many exhibitors will be vying for one of the three prizes by constructing interesting and colorful displays.

Many prizes will again be awarded to lucky persons attending the show. As in the past, many exhibitors will be conducting drawings at their booths, and the Jaycees will also be giving away many valuable prizes.

An added feature of this year's show will be a "WLDJ-Jaycee auction." Radio station WLDJ will donate over 100 home, sports and travel items that will be auctioned off to the highest bidder, with all the proceeds going to the Jaycees.

Four auctions will be held: one Friday night, two Saturday and one on Sunday.

The following committee chairmen were announced by general co-chairmen Jackson and Roegge: Fred Cody, sales manager; Gerry Agans, facilities chairman; Ron Tendick and Glenn Preston; tickets and prizes co-chairmen; Lowell McCulley, judges; Gordon May, hospitality chairman; Jack Fairfield, finance chairman; and Jerry Symons, publicity.

Nathan Hale Indemnity Stops Writing Policies

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Nathan Hale Indemnity Co. of Springfield has stopped writing policies in Illinois, State Insurance Director John F. Bolton Jr. said Friday.

However, the Nathan Hale Fire and Casualty Co., and the Nathan Hale Life Insurance Co., are continuing to operate as usual, Bolton said.

David Wilson of Springfield, president of the indemnity company, said he notified the Insurance Department this week that insurance and assets of the firm had been transferred to the Nathan Hale Fire and Casualty Co.

Wilson said the indemnity firm was a separate agency and was not affiliated with the life or fire and casualty firms.

Bolton said he issued a routine order for the indemnity company to stop writing business when the company filed an annual statement showing a zero surplus.

The absence of a surplus figure occurred, Bolton said, because the indemnity company has transferred its business to the fire and casualty firm.

State Rep. Allen Lucas of Springfield, a director of the life and casualty branches of Nathan Hale, said in a statement: "The Nathan Hale Indemnity Co. is a reciprocal insurance company, which has been in operation over 12 years, writing fire and casualty insurance."

"All new business of the Nathan Hale Indemnity Co., as well as all draft shop renewals, has been written in the Nathan Hale Fire and Casualty Co. over the last nine months, and the insurance of the indemnity company has since last July been reinsured by the Nathan Hale Fire and Casualty Co."

Lucas said he was informed by Bolton the Insurance Department is not investigating either the life or the fire and casualty companies.

Local Pilots Help Feed Millions Of Hungry In India

The Pilot Club of Jacksonville preforms many local community services, but one service the Pilots are extremely interested in is a world community service — Meals for Millions.

Early last month Mrs. Sherwood Eddy spoke at a Pilot club program. She told many interesting things about India — its people, its government, economy and its problem of over population, hunger and disease. During the past year Pilot Clubs topped all past records in contributions to Meals for Millions to help feed the hungry. Evidence of their concern for the undernourished two thirds of the world is their score of 215 contributions from 162 clubs, totalling about $2,550. This means that Pilots are responsible for providing 80,000 "3¢ meals" of high protein Multi-Purpose Food.

Pilot International has 162 Pilot Clubs in 29 states that have contributed to Meals for Millions — and the Pilot Club of Jacksonville is proud to be among the contributors.

Delta Nu Makes Pledge To Aid Y Building Fund

The last regular meeting of Delta Nu Chapter of Delta Theta Tau Sorority, Inc. International met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Cox. Due to the closing of the Dunlap Hotel the past meetings have been held at the following members' homes, Mrs. Perk Chumley, Mrs. Julian Chandler, Miss Nina Kroush, Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Floyd Cox. The next regular meeting, March 14, will be at the home of the president, Mrs. R. J. Little.

At the last meeting it was voted by the membership to make their philanthropic project for the year a large contribution to the new "Sherwood Eddy Memorial YMCA." In the past donations have been made to other institutions in the community, but the members felt this was a very worthwhile project and will benefit all families in the community.

The members also voted to make up fresh fruit baskets to be delivered to rest homes to the aged who are usually forgotten. This project will be carried out over the Easter holidays.

Plans are being made for future meetings such as a progressive dinner and a rummage sale is scheduled for April 22nd and 23rd. As it is the ruling of the National Sorority that all moneys made through money making projects must be turned back into philanthropic projects, therefore in the past Delta Nu has contributed many worthwhile pieces of equipment to Holy Cross Hospital, Passavant Hospital and Oak Lawn Sanatorium. Usually the sorority takes turns each year among these three institutions.

An Extra Burden In Foreign Aid

Despite what critics of this country may say, Americans can take justifiable pride in the well over $100 billion they have poured into foreign aid since the end of World War II.

Whether the motive behind it was a desire to stop communism or whether it sprang from simple humanity, or was a mixture of both, the fact remains that never in history have so many given so much to so many.

"Given" is the right word, for more than 90 per cent of the money sent to rebuild Europe under the Marshall Plan was in the form of outright grants.

Today, however, about 70 per cent of U.S. aid is in loans, repayable over 40 years with an interest rate of 2½ per cent.

It would be tragic if, after having helped so many people in the past, American aid began to hurt them. For even at the present moderate interest rate, reports News Front magazine, many officials at the Agency for International Development (AID) are worried about the growing debts of aid-receiving nations.

Each year the amounts that developing nations must pay on debt service mounts dramatically. In 1965 it totalled $316 million. It will jump to between $500 and $600 million by 1970.

Most disturbing statistic is that fully 30 per cent of U.S. money sent to the developing countries has to be returned to pay the interest on previous loans. Ten years ago it was 8 per cent.

This means that only 70 per cent of the money loaned today is actually available for use in these countries.

The interest rate on American loans was 1 per cent in 1961. In 1963 Congress raised it to 2 per cent and in 1964 to 2½ per cent. Strenuous AID persuasion prevented another hike in 1965.

Any further stiffening of terms, argued AID officials, would be self-defeating, because for each increase of one-half of 1 per cent in the interest rate an extra $100 million in loans is required to do the same job.

Some countries have recently softened their foreign aid terms. Britain has decided to make selected loans with no interest and Canada now charges only three-fourths of 1 per cent over a 50-year period.

The time may be coming when the United States will seriously have to consider doing the same.

A Crop Of Praise

It is about time, thinks one agriculturalist, that America's farmers and ranchers were given credit for their share in making the United States the world power it is today.

Ironically, says Dr. Richard K. Frevert, director of the University of Arizona Agricultural Experiment Station, farmers and ranchers have increased their productivity so rapidly in the past two decades that there is a tendency to take it for granted.

Twenty years ago, one farm worker grew enough food to feed 14 people. Today, aided by the new techniques and knowledge that have emerged from agricultural research, he feeds 33 people.

Twenty years ago, the average U.S. citizen spent 26 per cent of his income on food; today it is 19 per cent. This compares with 31 per cent in France and 50 per cent in Russia.

Twenty years ago, the average person worked 60 hours to buy a month's supply of food; today it takes 37 hours. And the food today is fresher, more varied, more convenient than ever before.

Farmers have been much criticized for the huge agricultural surpluses that began piling up after World War II, the cost of which helped boost the budget of the Department of Agriculture to a level exceeded only by the Department of Defense.

The problem of surpluses is coming to an end, notes Frevert. Already there is talk of "unleashing" American agricultural productivity for the job of feeding a runaway world population.

In view of his performance in the past and the challenge facing the near future, the forgotten American farmer may well be called upon to be the man of the hour—in all the hours remaining in the 20th century.

Dear Ann:

Asks Consideration For Handicapped Child

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of a handicapped child who will soon be 13. I'm writing to you because I know millions of people read your column and I want to reach as many people as possible.

Every time I take my daughter out in her wheel chair, some stranger comes up and asks, "What's wrong with her?" Do they think that just because the girl is in a wheel chair that she is also deaf?

And then there are the ones that stare—people who ought to be known better. They gawk as if the child is a freak in a side-show.

Handicapped children have a hard enough time adjusting to life without being reminded every day that they are different. I keep telling my daughter that the stargers and questioners are rude and that she should not pay any attention to them.

Please, Ann, pass the word. The battles these kids have to fight are big enough. The public can help so much by being considerate and polite. —A MOTHER woman is the classic matriarch.

She is a widow who manipulates her sons as if they were puppets. She also runs her sons-in-law.

My husband's sisters and brothers are lily-livered hypocrites. I know they don't like each other yet they all hang together socially. If one tried to leave the other off a party list the matriarch wouldn't stand for it. She demands that her children present a solid front of togetherness which is so phony that it nauseates me.

My husband is as bad as the rest—maybe worse. What can I do to get him to issue a declaration of independence?

WED TO A 38-YEAR-OLD MAMA'S BOY

Dear Wed: You are not going to change your husband, so forget that. The ideal solution would be to get him to move to another city. If this is not practical for business reasons, take hold of the social reins and fill up the calendar with interesting friends so there will be precious little time left for boring relatives.

Dear Ann Landers: My son belongs to a club. A good many weeks ago I told the president of the club that I would like to have an open house New Year's Day for the members. I made it clear that it would be very informal. He said he would pass the word to the 20 members. He seemed certain that all the members would come. I prepared refreshments for that number.

Only two members showed up—the president and another fellow. My son made three. No explanation nor apologies were given. We just sat there looking at one another—and at all that food.

These people are not teenagers. They are all in their late 20's and early 30's. I am very hurt about this and wonder if I should call the members and find out what happened. My husband says to forget it. What is your advice?

—L. L.

Dear L. L.: You should not have left it up to the president to "pass the word." You should have phoned each member yourself and extended a personal invitation. Forget about trying to find out what happened. Just don't make the same mistake again.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Red Carpet in Place but Not G. Mennen Williams

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — G.

Mennen Williams, whose position as Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs entitles him to travel first class at all times, likes to save the government money whenever possible by flying tourist class.

When Williams' plane touched down recently in an African country, a distinguished crowd of cabinet ministers, the chief of protocol, the U.S. ambassador and embassy personnel was waiting.

They were all lined up along a red carpet which had been unrolled for Williams. It swept up unswervingly, of course, to the first-class unit. Williams, unfortunately, disembarked from the tourist section in the back of the plane.

The ensuing race under the wing of the plane to regroup in the correct place did not set any protocol marks, but it certainly established a new high in confusion.

On the speech circuit, Richard Nixon tells audiences that Americans should be neither "hawks" nor "doves" in the Viet Nam war situation — but "eagles." He asks:

resigned as his state's auditor general to run for Congress in 1964. During a door-to-door campaign, he was greeted at one house by a woman who opened the door just wide enough to see out.

"Good afternoon," he began. "I'm Billie Farnum, the auditor general."

"You're too late," the woman snapped as she slammed the door. "I sent the check to Lansing yesterday!"

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, a native of Massachusetts, explained to a Boston audience the basic difference between life in the city and Washington.

"Anywhere you go in Boston you can get a good bowl of clam chowder," said O'Brien. "In Washington, there's no place you can go to keep out of the soup."

In the Goldwater campaign of 1964, one of the unsung heroes was Victor Gold, who ministered to the press with frenzied energy and dedication.

Today he operates a public relations business in the capital. A visit to his office has its personal rewards.

Outside his main door, his first name is set in raised stainless steel letters, but his last name is emblazoned in gold brass.

Inside, he hits you with it, again and again. His carpet is gold-colored. So are his draperies and his telephone.

Presumably, he still drinks Gold Water, a briefly popular soft drink in the 1964 campaign.

The Shape of the Cross

Outstretched Arms of the Cross

Always The Family

Along the way of the Cross, Jesus saw His mother. At the foot of the Cross, she was there. So were some of His disciples and others who had believed on Him. They were His brothers. He had said: He for justice and searches for righteousness, there is a temptation to use the tools of violence or rudeness. That's the sharp-pointed spear. But a Cross reaches out; this is a time for Twentieth Century man to reconsider the meaning of reconciliation.

When a man leaves the safety of his old home to go out and understand his neighbor, when he prays for his enemy, when he tries to hold the broken cables of communication together, he may find himself at a cross. But at the foot of the cross there will be a family. Take a long look at that cross. You can't see it all alone. It's never understood until you measure its outreach.

A Peek Into LBJ's Secrecy

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson is constantly being chided by his detractors for secrecy, yet some of the most secret things he does in the conduct of his office are never talked about.

The biggest fuss is usually made over the fact that the President keeps word of many of his decisions — including his appointments and his major travel plans — so close to his ribs that even key staff men cannot get a peek at them.

His severest critics are charging that much of the time he really decides a matter early in the game, that the elaborate, showy business of consulting many people and collecting information from varied sources is just a way of building a consensus to help sell his decision.

The evidence for this is, however, extremely thin. Men of sufficiently detached judgment not to be rated Johnson apologists insist that he is in fact a "late-hour decision maker," with an almost maddening penchant for making that one extra call to get another view or some stray idea.

What perhaps ought to concern the critics more is how little they really know of some of the people whose counsel the President tosses into his decision mix.

While the complainants are banging away at all the standard targets like Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Johnson is busy talking to a good many outside people that even Washington's nosiest — reporters do not know he calls.

Generally, their public stature is high. One name that has at last popped out, for example, is that of Arthur Dean, top negotiator for the United States in the Korean negotiations.

But the president's best kept secrets revolve around the 15 or more task forces he has named to advise him in key fields since late 1964.

In earlier regimes, task forces usually were well — publicized; they made formal reports, and these were released — like as not to be shelved with little or no action.

Under Johnson this mechanism works altogether differently and perhaps more significantly.

With an exception or two (the recent study group on urban affairs), the President does not disclose the component membership of these forces.

Again, except in one or two instances (the unit on natural beauty is one), these wholly secret units have not made formal reports. Whatever they have recommended has gone quietly to the President and his most limited circle.

It is pretty plain that these units are not engaged in trivial side-shows or sterile word-shuffling. As the President entered 1965, he had task forces toiling away in every major field covered by Great Society legislation which later was enacted.

Yet few men know who the consultants were, what ideas they offered, what conflicts developed among them, what weight the President gave them in his final decisions. He has been entirely free to go through the "weighing process" with these units—without risk that press and public will catch a glimpse at some preliminary stage.

The one lapse from this quiet amazing internal security came with the publicly identified urban affairs task force, whose conflicts over what ought to go into the new Department of Housing and Urban Development leaked out and caused a stir. That task force's staff head once froze in near-shock when a reporter turned up in his unpublicized lair one day.

Right now there is no fresh word of important task force operations. But the President can name new ones or recall old ones on short notice, give them big assignments and hear their reports with hardly a ripple of news reaching the public.

Mature Parent Uncertainty Is Natural

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The summer that I was 18 I looked for my first job at a distance from my small-town home. On the third day of my search I stood on a street corner crushed by the soaring buildings around me, and feeling what I now know was adolescent despair, thought:

"Oh, which of these million blind windows will ever see me? Which of these millions of doors will ever open to me? Maybe there isn't any room for me in this dreadful oblivious grown-up world. Maybe there never will be."

I did not confide this despair to my parents. Had I done so, I knew that they would say: "If you don't succeed at first, try, try again." And as I was already trying as hard as I could, I needed no exhortations to more trying. What I needed was some grownup to say:

"You're in trouble because you think you have to be your parents. Because they seem to have found their place in the world, you think you should have found yours. You think they knew exactly how to go about finding their place in the world. Well, they didn't. They had to grope for it just as you are doing. We all have to constantly grope for a new place in the world, no matter what age we are. So comfort yourself, child. None of us knows all the answers."

If your adolescent child isn't talking to you these days, it may be because you've convinced him that you have all the answers. It may be because you're so proud of your success in marriage or work that you've scared him to death with the possibility that he won't be able to duplicate your successes. It may also be because you've yakked so much about your sufferings in marriage or work that you've scared him to death with the possibility that he's doomed to duplicate your failures.

Yes, if your adolescent child isn't talking to you these days, it is because you have conveyed to him the impression that he has to be you. And must forever live by your certain answers.

Do you remember anything at all about how it was to be young, to feel time relentlessly moving you nearer and nearer to the million-windowed, million-doored world of the grown-ups, possessing no safe road into it except the one your parents told you was safe? Do you remember wondering if you wanted to follow the road that they had followed?

If you do remember yourself as the young, groping, uncertain creature you were as you neared the grown-up world, your adolescent child will talk to you again. All you have to say to him is:

"I am not sure. I have just seemed to be sure. Are you uncertain, too? If you are, that makes two of us, darling, and we can now begin to talk together."

FINDING THE WAY

The Fount of Security

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Recently a merchant flew to our city from a distant area. He had a case of expensive jewels and valuable watches which he placed on the luggage rack as he took his place in the plane.

When he arrived at our local airport, the jewels were missing. Reconstructing the situation, it is agreed that the luggage was stolen probably before the plane departed. During all of the journey he was content, serene in the fact that he had his possessions stowed away safely. Only when he arrived empty handed did the awful truth dawn on him.

I've been thinking about that poor chap. Life has a way of vandalizing so many of us. We have so much stored up and we package so many things to secure our happiness. Then, just at the critical moment of our arrival, there's the awful truth of our emptiness.

Illness can do that to a person. You think you can meet any crisis but when the real issue is confronted, what do you have to meet it?

Critical decisions can reveal it. You think of yourself as an honest person and then suddenly there's a decision that can't be referred to a committee or put off until some future occasion. In that sudden moment there's the discovery of whether you really have something that gives an accuracy of timing and a jewel of ethical sensitivity.

Walter Lippman once wrote: "At the heart of modern man's discontent there are likely to be moments of misgiving in which he finds the civilization of which he is a part leaves a dusty taste in his mouth. He may be busy with very many things but he discovers one day that he is no longer sure."

It was this kind of faith that caused St. Paul to be certain that even that theft of the jewels wouldn't deflect him from life's purpose. "I am persuaded that nothing can separate me from the love of God," he insisted. No wonder he could say, "I am more than a conqueror."

In the end, beyond the luggage of our life, what do we have that gives us security?

The Hog Show—How Good Are Judges?—Learn Tuesday!

THE THIRD ANNUAL market hog show sponsored by Morgan County Pork Producers was held Tuesday at the Woodson sales barn and from every viewpoint it was a glittering success.

Twenty of the better hog raisers in the county brought 92 head of excellent hogs to stand the inspection of three top-ranked judges.

A man who began feeding hogs ever since he was knee-high to a scoop shovel and has raised tons and tons of pork in his lifetime, looked over the entries and observed, "There's not a cob roller in the bunch. They are regular beauties, crammed full of good lean muscle. Ten years ago you couldn't have found a hundred hogs like them in the whole county.

"When they first started talking about 'meat-type' hogs some 10-12 years ago I didn't pay much attention to it. But even I'm smart enough to know that when a hog won't bring much more than enough to pay for rendering it—much less pay for raising it and hauling it around—well, there's got to be a change."

"And these younger men are doing it. I've got to take off my hat to them."

The judges picked a sleek and solid 212 pound Duroc barrow as the best market hog brought to the show. He's shown with his owner, Eddie Hymes, route 1,

The blue ribbon for the best pen was taken by Carman Potter, route 2, Jacksonville, with his five Durocs that averaged 205 pounds. The second snapshot shows Potter at right, with Chief Judge Dick Carlisle, U.I. Extension livestock specialist.

What pleased the older hogmen the most was the interest shown by the spectators, and particularly the 36 Future Farmers of Jacksonville high school who came down in the afternoon to evaluate the entries and listen to the comments of the judges. After the individual entries had been cut down to 10 the youths were given plenty of time to get into the ring, look and feel, and mark down their choices.

Tuesday night they'll have an opportunity to learn how well they agreed, or differed, with the opinions of the older judges. The 92 hogs entered in the show were immediately trucked to the Hunter Packing Co. in E. St. Louis for slaughter. Later on the firm's dressed meat specialists weighed and measured the carcasses and determined the percentage of the lean meat cuts—loin, ham, Boston and picnic butts—in the carcass.

These results will be discussed Tuesday evening by Dick Simms of Macomb, Extension livestock specialist, at a meeting to be held in the 4-H building at the fairgrounds beginning at 7 p.m.

All persons interested in any phase of pork production are invited to attend. There will be trophies presented for those who came closest to the actual dress-out value of the hogs, regardless of what the on-foot judges said last Tuesday. There will be a special door prize for somebody, as the packing house has donated one of their new deluxe, long-cured hams labeled "Huntmaster" and put on the market only ten days ago.

Morgan herdsmen participating in the show were James Baise, route 4; John

C. Cox, route 4; Bobby DeOrnellas, route 4; Richard DeOrnellas, route 4; Alan Heaton, Murrayville; Donald Houston & Son, route 1; Eddie Hymes, route 1; Everett E. Hymes, route 1; J. F. Lawless, route 2; David Middleton, route 2; David Millon, Murrayville; Henry Pahlmann, Chapin; Carman Potter, route 2; Schone Bros., Chapin; Ed Ward, route 3; Clyde Williams & Son, Chapin; Tom Patterson, route 1, and John Potter, route 2.

A committee from the Morgan County Pork Producers, headed by the Schone Bros., was in charge of the ring and moved the show along with dispatch.

THREE OLD HANDS at the judging business put in a pretty full day picking out what they considered were the top hogs, and explaining to the audience how they arrived at their decisions. Here they are, from left, Dick Simms of Macomb, Tony Sweitzer, Hunter Co. hog buyer, and Dick Carlisle, looking over five excellent crossbreds entered by Everett E. Hymes, rural route 1, Jacksonville.

The trio decided every one of the five was a No. 1 meat-type hog. The best one of the lot, a 218 pounder, was judged the third best hog in the show.

But the best judges are far from infallible. Will they be replaced by machines? By sonic waves and computers? Not right away, says Henry Deal of the Hunter Co. He's been using sonic waves in this area for the past 13 months to determine the size of the loin.

The hog is lifted off its feet. A patch of hair is clipped off and the machine sends in a wave of sound that bounces back when it hits muscle. By placing the electrode at just the right position and reading the return time interval Deal is able to determine, pretty accurately, the size of the loin. He's shown here checking a hog brought over by Robert Reid, prominent Scott county Duroc breeder, who is helping by recording the various figures that will enable Deal to plot the size of the loin.

"At the present time," Deal said, "this device must be considered just another tool in the selection of superior breeding stock. It's away too slow, and not precise enough, to replace any competent on-foot judge. But who can say what tomorrow may bring? Maybe all we'll have to do is run a hog through a chute, sonic rays will determine just exactly how good the hog is, a computer will do the figuring and have the check ready before the hog gets to the end of the chute.

"Who would be surprised, much," he exclaimed.

Judge Carlisle said the sonic machine "is just as good as the man operating it and you people in this area have got the best. I truly wish we had a man like Deal to help the hog breeders in northern Illinois.

"At the spring barrow show in Louisville, Deal said one of the entries had a six square inch loin eye, but nobody believed him. But when the hog was slaughtered it was found that he was off only .05%. And many a surprised person looked at Deal and his 'dinkus' with new-found respect."

Deal checked two hogs brought over by Reid. Later they (the porkers) were trucked to the packing house and their dressed weight figures will be available Tuesday night to be checked against the accuracy of Deal's figures.

All of which indicates Tuesday night's program at the fairgrounds will be interesting to anybody interested in better hogs and better pork.

LAW on the farm

ANNUAL TOWNSHIP MEETING

More than 1,400 townships in Illinois will hold annual town meetings on April 5. The business of approving budgets, appropriating money and levying taxes usually takes place at 2 p.m. But in an effort to attract more participants, a few townships now hold evening business meetings.

Much of the township's business is of primary importance to rural areas. Here are some of the powers relating to agriculture that the voters exercise at the annual town meeting:

1. Make rules and regulations on division fences, and determine what constitutes a legal fence. For example, voters could set fence height at five feet instead of the 4½ feet provided in the state fence law.

2. Establish rules for preventing Canada thistle and other noxious weeds, and allow rewards for their destruction.

3. Authorize the impounding of dogs running at large, and provide for their destruction at the end of a reasonable period.

4. Raise money by taxes to construct or repair township roads and bridges, maintain cemeteries, care for the poor and maintain a public hospital.

The voters also exercise other powers not so closely related to agriculture. These powers include the authority to fix per diem allowances for members of the board of auditors (township supervisor, clerk and three town auditors) and to bring township officers and employees under a statewide retirement system. They may also set license fees for dealers in second-hand articles, including automobiles and farm implements.

The annual meeting is a unique feature of township government. It is one of the few opportunities a citizen has to participate directly in governmental affairs rather than through elected representatives. But, judging from the sparse attendance at many town meetings, the common assumption that we desire to keep local government directly in the hands of local people might be open to question.

Nevertheless, one of the best ways to observe and participate in local government is by attending your annual town meeting on April 5.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

BEEF CATTLE OUTLOOK CLEARED

The outlook for beef cattle was recently clarified to some extent when the USDA released its annual report of numbers of livestock on farms and ranches.

Figures in this report indicate that marketings of fed cattle may be a little larger this year than they were in 1965. Other information suggests that consumer demand for beef may increase about as much as the supply. If so, prices for fed cattle will average about the same this year as they did in 1965.

Last year Choice steers at Chicago averaged $26.19 a hundred pounds, $3.07 higher than in the previous year. The highest monthly average was $27.68 in June; the lowest was $24.02 in February a year ago.

6 Percent More Steers. The number of steers over one year old on farms and ranches January 1 was estimated at 12,668,000, 6 percent more than the year before. Most of these steers will be marketed during this year. About 35 percent of them were already in feedlots on January 1.

We estimate the number of steers in feedlots on January 1 at 4,490,000, or 4 percent more than last year. Steers not yet on feed numbered about 3,180,000, 7 percent more than last year.

2 Percent Fewer Heifers. The number of beef heifers over one year old on farms and ranches January 1 was listed at 8,341,000, or 2 percent less than one year before. The number to be marketed for slaughter may be down more than 2 percent, since the number to be held back for breeding may be greater than in 1965.

We estimate the number of heifers in feedlots on January 1 at about 2,010,000, 17 percent more than a year earlier. If this estimate is reasonable, then the number of heifers not in feedlots totaled about 6,330,000, or 8 percent less than a year earlier. Thus it appears that

William Hobson Heads Greene Soil Group

CARROLLTON — William R. Hobson of Eldred was elected 1966 chairman of the Greene County Soil and Water Conservation district board at a recent organization meeting. Other officers elected were R. V. Price of White Hall, vice-chairman; L. D. Scott of Rockbridge secretary; L. F. Atteberry of Carrollton, treasurer, and John Schmidt of Carrollton board member.

Hobson is a graduate of the University of Illinois and taught vocational agriculture before going into the farming business. As a side line he and his wife operate one of the few vacation enterprises in Illinois.

Price farms west of White Hall on a grain and livestock farm. He is interested in the conservation program of the county and uses a good fertility program, grassed waterways, improved pasture land and tile lines.

Scott farms east of Rockbridge, using a grain and livestock system. He became interested in conservation in recent years and since has done a commendable job in conserving soil and water on his land.

L.F. Atteberry, businessman and manager, has been actively engaged in the conservation program for a number of years. Being a former teacher he is interested in the conservation education program of the county.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

This is the time of year when all hands begin to get anxious to get into the field. Many boys will be operating tractors—and many of these will be doing it for the first time. Farm safety specialists have come up with some things to think about in this regard.

How do I teach my son good operating habits?

By being a good example. He is much more likely to do as you do—and not as you say.

When should a child start on a tractor?

Responsibility is the key here. Can your boy refuse, change oil, change the oil filter, check the water and do other servicing jobs? After he does this can you take the tractor to the field without feeling you need to check his work? If you can, your boy is showing the right kind of responsibility.

In no case should he start until he weighs 90 pounds and is 4½ feet tall. It's easy to steer the tractor on smooth ground. But dead furrows, back furrows, holes, rocks, etc., demand a driver with enough strength and weight to stay in control.

The boy must know more about the tractor than how to steer. As one old gentleman said, "Putting a child under 10 years of age on a tractor is like trying to get milk out of 14 month old heifer — neither is ready for the job."

Have him study the operator's manual. Be sure he knows what to do if things go wrong. Be sure he knows how to stop after he gets started. Ride with him at first — then be sure he has no riders "hanging on."

Start him out slowly for short periods of time with trailing equipment doing a slow speed job. Gradually lengthen the time.

How about driving on the road?

Remember that on the road — mile for mile — it's more dangerous on a tractor than in a car. Auto driver education has proved safety can be learned, but the decisions regarding a boy learning to drive a tractor are still up to Dad.

Now you should . . .

Ask the neighbors over

ACROSS THE Fields AND Furrows

SHORTS FROM A FARM NEWS LETTER!

Hog producers may make as much profit in '66 as they did last year but other Illinois farmers probably won't do as well. Profits from cattle feeding will be shortened by higher costs of replacement cattle, and crop yields may not equal those of '65. One thing is sure — costs of farm operation are rising.

Property destroyed by fire in the U. S. in 1965 totaled one and eight tenths billion dollars, estimates show. Would you be surprised to learn that rats are thought to be a major cause of farm fires of undetermined origin? It is thought that they may be responsible for one out of four such fires.

FROM THE CORN CRIB! — The bank robber showed a note across to the teller that read: "Put the money in a bag, sucker, and don't make a move."

The teller rushed back another note: "Straighten your tie, stupid, we're taking your picture."

Across the Fields and Furrows is brought to you daily at 12:25 P.M. on WLD 5 1180 on your dial by the people at Elliott State Bank.

HOW often have you heard this? "My homeowners policy doesn't cost that much." BUT, how is it written?

Here are 10 examples of annual basic cost for a $20,000 homeowners policy, brick home, in Jacksonville, Ill. $98.00, $85.00, $77.00, $73.00, $70.00, $65.00, $56.00, $54.00, $51.00, $43.00.

FLYING SAUCER

Once I was walking along a walk
And I saw a friend and stopped to talk.
I stood looking up in the big blue sky
And a flying saucer I did spy.
Along the sky I saw it go
Where it went I do not know.
I just about told my friend,
But I thought I was dreaming so this is the end.

Let's Go Birding

Never Too Cold

By Emma Mae Leonhard

It was -13 degrees that January morning in Jacksonville according to the official report. What it was out in the country where the knifing wind used direct attacks on man, bird, and beast was anybody's guess. The three birders in search of White-winged Crossbills would have guessed -20 degrees as they were hiking along the row of pine trees north of Chandler-ville.

Why were three supposedly intelligent creatures foolhardy enough to leave their warm homes to go in search of birds? As has already been stated, they were looking for White-winged Crossbills. And they succeeded.

By the time that their fingers, even in fleece-lined gloves, were numb, their faces scarlet with cold and their noses ready to drip icicles, their binoculars too stiff for functioning, one of the party caught the characteristic notes of crossbills.

Soon small dark bird forms flew in and dropped down into the cone-bearing branches of the dense pines, immediately dissecting with their crossed bills like pruning-shears the cones for the hidden seeds. More and more crossbills moved in until the stretch of pines before the birders was generously decorated with at least one hundred feeding birds that sometimes flew down to the ground below to dine upon the seeds which had fallen there. So busy and so tame were these rare crossbills that the eager observers only a few feet away didn't need their "frozen" binoculars to study them.

Rosy-Pink Males

Two beautiful rosy-pink males, with their broad white wing-bars glistening in the cold sunlight, perched on the end of a branch as if to inspect the dining manners of the many olive-gray females, with equally broad white wing-bars shining in the perfect light.

To make the scene more exciting to the birders, a smaller, dark, heavily streaked bird with a flash of yellow in its wings and tail—a Pine Siskin—appeared. It was a smart little bird. Perhaps its small pointed bill wasn't as stout and scissor-like as that of its many companions and it would have found the cracking of the hard cones a bigger chore. It wisely followed in the wake of the crossbills and found plenty of seeds for its breakfast.

How cold were the three birders by this time? They didn't know, for they were either too cold to know or too excited to care, and there weren't any other human beings around to report. Anyway, a student at Illinois College, Bob Randall, had added one new bird to his life list; and another student at the same college, Pat Ward, had added two life birds to his list. And the car started, the heater worked, and the birders saw another incredible sight to be the subject of the article next week.

AFTER APOLLO

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

Scientists are looking ahead to the longer manned space missions of a month to a year duration that will come after project Apollo to the moon.

Four of the problems being studied by scientists were reported on by Mr. E. R. Spangler of Thomas Ramon Woodbridge (TRW) at a meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics in St. Louis recently.

These four areas are: the pure oxygen atmosphere, low gravity, poisons in the spacecraft atmosphere and removal from the cycles on earth that affect man's life. Some of these questions, like breathing pure oxygen, can be studied on earth. Others, like low gravity or zero-g (gravity) cannot be simulated as easily on earth.

We know that man can stay weightless long enough to reach the moon and return but we do not know what effects may turn up during longer stays. The possible drain of calcium from his removing man from his natural environment may have. We know that plants and animals on the earth are adapted to a variety of periodic systems on earth such as day - night, the seasons and the tides.

Life Rhythms
Some of these rhythms affect man. For example, some people wake up at the same hour each morning without the aid of an alarm clock. Long term space flights may teach us a great deal about the effects these little understood rhythms may have on human behavior.

Before man goes on any long space flights the dangers of extended exposure to space will be investigated by a series of six Biosatellites, called "Bios" for short. The Biosatellites will carry a wide range of living organisms from seeds and human tissue cultures to mice and monkeys on flights ranging from 3 to 30 days. The first three-day Bios flight is scheduled for early this year. Others will follow at three month intervals.

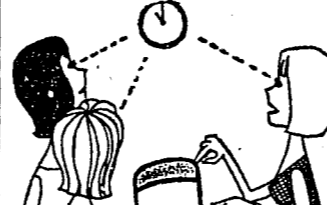

Poison Danger

Another problem is the gradual buildup of poisons in the spacecraft's atmosphere. Anything can become toxic if there is too much of it. Even stored oxygen can give off poisons. Added to the poisons given off by the crew and the spacecraft itself are microorganisms that may multiply during the flight.

Scientists are making good progress in identifying these poisons and developing the means to control them. The picture shows one of these poison identification tests being conducted at the Aeromedical Laboratory at Wright - Patterson AFB Dayton, Ohio.

Another more serious problem is the unknown effect that sible drain of calcium from his removing man from his natural

Mischievous Sparky

By John Rankin

There was a touch of early spring-like weather in the soft breeze and in the warm, late afternoon sun. And with the gentle murmur of the tall pines to his back eight-year-old Tony Spencer paused on the crest of the great yawning chasm with his black and white terrier to peer down into the valley with its long, winding road leading in from the main highway.

And as his view took in the rather remote but neat little cottage up at the end of the trail, the youngster's thoughts turned to a day several weeks earlier when Aunt Hilda had brought he and Sparky along when she came out from the city to keep house for Doctor Gascon.

Too Frisky

At first the elderly and retired physician had objected to Sparky's presence in the household. But after a few days, though, he had accepted him to a limited degree at least — when the mischievous pooch promptly chewed a hole in the old doctor's overshoe—ruined a prized manuscript on research and made life miserable for the cat.

Recently though, Sparky had managed to get along with the cat and, for the most part, had been on his good behavior until today. But Doc will really kick up a storm when he comes home and finds out what happened to his book. Tony thought with misgiving. Then reluctantly he turned from the scene and with the frisky terrier taking the lead headed down a narrow, winding trail for the house.

Aunt Hilda, plump and middle-aged with her blond hair done up in a neat tuft at the back of her head — turned from the kitchen stove as Tony eased in with Sparky and quietly closed the door behind him. "Well, young man! It's about time you showed up," she said crisply.

Real Trouble

"Something has come up, Aunt Hilda," he began meekly. "Looks like Sparky has got us in plenty of trouble this time." A slight frown creased Aunt Hilda's brow as she gave Sparky a darting glance and then looked straight at Tony. "What's he been up to now? Pestering the cat or chasing Doc's pet squirrel again, perhaps?"

Tony shook his head. "No. But he made waste paper out of his book — and Doc will really blow his stack when he finds out about it."

Aunt Hilda suddenly broke into laughter. "That was just an old book that Doc tossed out on the trash heap with some other rubbish from his study, dear," she said with an insignificant gesture, and turned back to the stove.

Moments later Tony glanced out the window and said. "There's Doc, now. I'll go out and give him a hand." Then he ran out to meet the tall, gaunt and rather dignified looking doctor as he stepped from the car with a couple of shopping bags in his arms.

Looking down over the top of his glasses the old doctor studied the youngster briefly and placed the larger bag in his out-stretched arms. "Very well, boy, but I'll carry the eggs," he said with a note of caution. Then as he straightened and started for the house the cat crossed his path in frenzied flight with Sparky in wild pursuit!

THE ICE STORM

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

When Ed goes to get his col-lie Princess from her bed on the back porch he finds that she is gone with her metal chain still attached to her collar. He is especially worried because everything is covered with ice and limbs and electric wires are down. His Dad has a "Lost Dog" announcement made on the radio and an ad put in the newspaper. His Mother promises to let him know as soon as she gets any word about the lost dog.

But the long school day drags by with no word, and when the boys find that Princess is not meeting Ed because she is lost they revel in the real life drama by suggesting various dreadful things that may have happened. "Probably right under some car wheels."

"Yes, or maybe electrocuted" "Or crushed by some falling branches..."

"Or ... or ... or ..."

They were all talking at once, and each thought of something worse than the one before. They didn't bother Ed though. Somehow it was better this way instead of having all those fears crawling around in the shadows like half-seen things in a dimly lighted attic.

Plan for Action

Next all were offering to help. Finally, it was decided that, after the boys had checked in at home, each one would take a different part of their neighborhood. They would look thoroughly in the places about which only boys and dogs know.

Ed began his trek with high hopes. However, as he walked on and as each likely spot held no Princess, he began to grow discouraged. He was just turning to slump on home when he thought of that partially filled basement that Princess always wanted to investigate when they were out on a walk together.

Try Again

Going only slow enough not to slip, Ed hurried on to where a house had been torn down. It left a gaping hole like a mouth with a lost tooth.

Ed stood as near as he dared to the slippery edge of the basement. He looked down into its already shadowy depths, for the winter sun was sinking rapidly after its brief day.

A great limb had fallen into the hole. Otherwise it looked just the same.

Reluctantly, Ed turned away. Perhaps good news would be waiting for him at home, though his hope for that was wearing thin.

He took a few steps, but he just couldn't leave. Feeling a little foolish, Ed came back to the edge of the hole and called, "Princess, Princess."

Whining Wind?

Ed heard a low whine. Or was it just the wind in the icy trees? He called again. This time he was sure he heard a whine—yes, and now a yapping.

Quickly, Ed lay on his stomach and slid down the side of the hole. There under the bough but not touched by it, lay Princess. Her chain was tangled in a branch.

As Ed stooped to loosen the chain, Princess made his job difficult by kissing his ear. But who cared!

Soon Ed and his dog were slithering up the slope. Ed was clinging to the thick, frozen weeds along the side. Princess was digging in with her sharp claws. At the top Princess jumped up. Soon Ed's parka was covered with paw prints, but he didn't mind one bit.

If you have a cup of white wine left from a bottle that has been served at a meal, you can use the wine (instead of 1 cup of the water called for) in making up a small package (four-servings size) of flavored gelatin.

Fill the cavities of pear halves (fresh or canned) with a mixture of cream cheese and cottage cheese; serve on salad greens.

Pittsfield Residents Protest Keeping Of Livestock In City

PITTSFIELD — Letters protesting the keeping of livestock within city limits were read during the Tuesday meeting of Pittsfield City Council. Letters were from Donna Manker, Junior Manker and Eva Jeffries. City police will notify all offenders to remove livestock in compliance with an existing ordinance. The first reading of the anti-rubbish and nuisance ordinance was approved.

Bergman also reported that Dr. L. J. Litvan is planning to build some homes on East Washington Street and is interested in learning about possible entrance to his intended building area. Litvan recently purchased the old Harve Smith property in the 800 block on Washington St.

Alderman Dimmitt reported that Dr. Gerald Shaw had asked about putting up a sign across the highway at the D-X station corner reading "Welcome to Pittsfield" and point the way to Pine Lakes fishing and camping grounds. Differences of opinion led to prolonged discussion and Dimmitt was to find out more about the type of sign Shaw had in mind.

Former Alderman Wilbur Bartlett presented to the council a new American flag in behalf of the American Legion at the start of the meeting. He was accompanied by his son Mike.

Lots of parsley in the refrigerator? While it is still green and fresh, mince a good portion of it and add to a tossed salad, to cooked buttered rice or noodles or to a sandwich filling.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN — Rev. James Dunlap died at his residence in this city, on Wednesday, 28th inst., aged 82 years, 7 months and 17 days.

The deceased was the father of Col. James Dunlap, Judge Stephen Dunlap, George Dunlap, deceased, formerly Circuit Clerk of Morgan county, Dr. Dunlap, also deceased, and Jephtha Dunlap, all of them ranking among our most prominent and wealthy citizens.

Rev. James Dunlap was a minister of the Gospel, of the Baptist faith. He was born in the State of Virginia, but removed to Kentucky when six years old. He removed to Ohio in 1812 and settled at Jacksonville, Morgan county, Ill., in 1844, where he resided until the time of his death.

CANFIELD'S PATENT RIDING OR WALKING CULTIVATOR — One of the above new and admirable machines is now on exhibition at Allen & Dunovan's shop, on North Sandy street. As a corn cultivator it contains a number of improvements with the advantages claimed in former patents for machines of this class. It is so constructed that the person using it may either ride, or walk, at his pleasure. It is also constructed as to be used for checking off corn ground for planting.

THE PEAK FAMILY COMING — The above celebrated Troupe will give one of their concerts at Strawn's Hall, on Saturday, March 17th. Their programme gives promise of a rich and varied entertainment. The exhibition of the Belle Lettres Society will take place to-night at the Conference Female College.

Dr. J. C. Cox has retired from the practice of Dentistry, having become a partner in Dr. Warren's drug store, on East State street.

From the Jacksonville Journal:
COME HOME, FATHER — We have listened to many touching temperance appeals from the pulpit and rostrum, but none moved us as "Father, dear father, come home with me now," a simple ballad by H. C. Work, set to music by the author. Published by Root & Cady, Chicago, Ill.

DEATHS — We are informed by Mr. B. Hillgass, Sexton of the Jacksonville cemetery, that during the month of January there were but eleven deaths in our city, and during the month of February, there were but five. This, in a population of nearly ten thousand, is certainly a good record, and shows our city to be remarkably healthy.

SOIREE DE MAGIE — Mons. Adrien, who has been so favorably received by our citizens on former occasions, will exhibit his wonderful and magical art Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week, at Strawn's Hall. His dissolving views and phantasmagoria have no equal.

CROSSING — Many persons are in the habit of drawing lines across revenue stamps, after affixing them, instead of cancelling them in the correct way, by writing initial letters of name and date. The former is contrary to law, and subjects the person so offending to a fine of fifty dollars. Let those interested take notice.

ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL — One of the proprietors of the JOURNAL was in Springfield last week and stopped at the St. Nicholas hotel, which he found, as usual, in most excellent trim. The accommodations at this House are of the first class, the landlord and all his clerks being gentlemen of accomplished manners.

From the Carrollton Gazette:
A number of our merchants are in the east buying their spring goods and forwarding them on. It is thought there will be a considerable reduction in the price of cotton goods.

Railroad shipments from the Carrollton station last week included 100 head of hogs, 1,316 bushels of wheat, 110 barrels of flour, 75 barrels of potatoes, 218 barrels of green apples, 30 barrels of dried apples, 2 barrels of cider, 10 barrels of whisky, 6 barrels of high wines, 5 barrels of eggs, 47 hides, 200 pounds of butter, 200 pounds of tallow, 5,000 feet white oak timbers and one carload of stone.

The Mobile Register says: "Counterfeit Government postal currency has been thickly scattered over this section, and at the present time there are thousands of dollars of bogus trash circulating in our city. They are throwing it on the market too fast."

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts, some time ago, gave George W. Stone, of Swampscott, a verdict of $300 against parties who had tarred and feathered him for rejoicing over the death of President Lincoln. Emboldened at this, he has brought suit against a minister who looked through a window at the procession that tarred him.

Mrs. Stonewall Jackson has published a letter declining further contributions raised throughout the South for her benefit, deeming it inconsistent with her ideas of rectitude and honor to receive them.

A son of Mr. Duncan, of Meadville, Pa., was reported and mourned as killed in the battle of Stone River. The body was brought home and buried. Afterward he was reported alive, but dying in a hospital in Georgia. This body was also brought home and buried. About a month since, the youth came home alive.

The ice-house of Lyman R. Lyon, at Lyon's Falls, New York, has not been empty for 20 years, nor has a pound of ice been put into it. The building is constructed after the ordinary method, and when it is designed to fill it a rose jet is placed upon the water-pipe, and as the water comes through it is chilled and drops into the ice-house, where it forms in one solid mass.

The Manchester (N.H.) Mirror tells of two men, who found a wallet with $600 in it, and papers showing who was the owner. The finders started after the loser, and hunted him half over the city until they found him, and restored his property. He most generously paid the men 25 cents in currency.

Negro Candidates At Peak In Alabama

By REX THOMAS

JASPER, Ala. (AP) — Voters in a dozen Alabama counties will find a record number of Negro candidates on the ballot in the upcoming Democratic primary, and some of them stand at least an even chance of defeating their white opponents.

At the qualifying deadline at midnight Tuesday night 12 Negroes were seeking seats in the legislature and more than a score of others were running for county or party office in the May 3rd election.

Before the time limit expired for candidates to get their names on the ballot, a retired office worker plunged unexpectedly into the already crowded race for governor. One of the two women seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination withdrew, asking for her money back.

The new candidate for governor was Eunice I. Gore, a 46-year-old Leeds resident, who described himself as a "God-fearing man" doing the will of God in running for the office.

Five minutes before the deadline, Ralph (Shorty) Price announced that his wife, Dolores, was withdrawing as a candidate for governor. He said she based her decision on the belief that "no woman can be elected," and added: "So, I want my $500 back." He got it.

The other woman in the governor's race is Lurleen Wallace, wife of Gov. George C. Wallace.

The only three Democrats in the Alabama congressional delegation got by without opposition and automatically won re-nomination since no write-in votes are permitted in the Democratic primary.

One of the Negroes who got into the primary in the closing hours was the Rev. F. H. Lewis, pastor of the Negro church in Selma where the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery began last year. He is running for a seat in the legislature against a white incumbent, Rep. Val Hain.

Another Negro, Bessemer attorney David H. Hood Jr., joined three other members of his race who had qualified earlier as candidates for the House from Jefferson County (Birmingham).

In the district which includes Macon, Barbour and Bullock counties, Negroes have a voting majority. In the others, except for Mobile and Jefferson counties, they may have enough votes by election day to nominate candidates of their race.

Negro candidates are running for sheriff in three counties — Macon, Wilcox and Perry — where there are more Negro

Vacation Bible School Clinic Begins Monday

A Vacation Bible School clinic for the churches of the Sandy Creek Baptist Association will be held at the North East Baptist church Monday, beginning at 9:15 a.m. The Sandy Creek Association is made up of more than forty churches in surrounding counties and is affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention. Some forty other clinics are being held in Illinois during March for the purpose of training Bible school faculties. Conference leaders received special instruction during January at Tabernacle church on Decatur in preparation for the clinics.

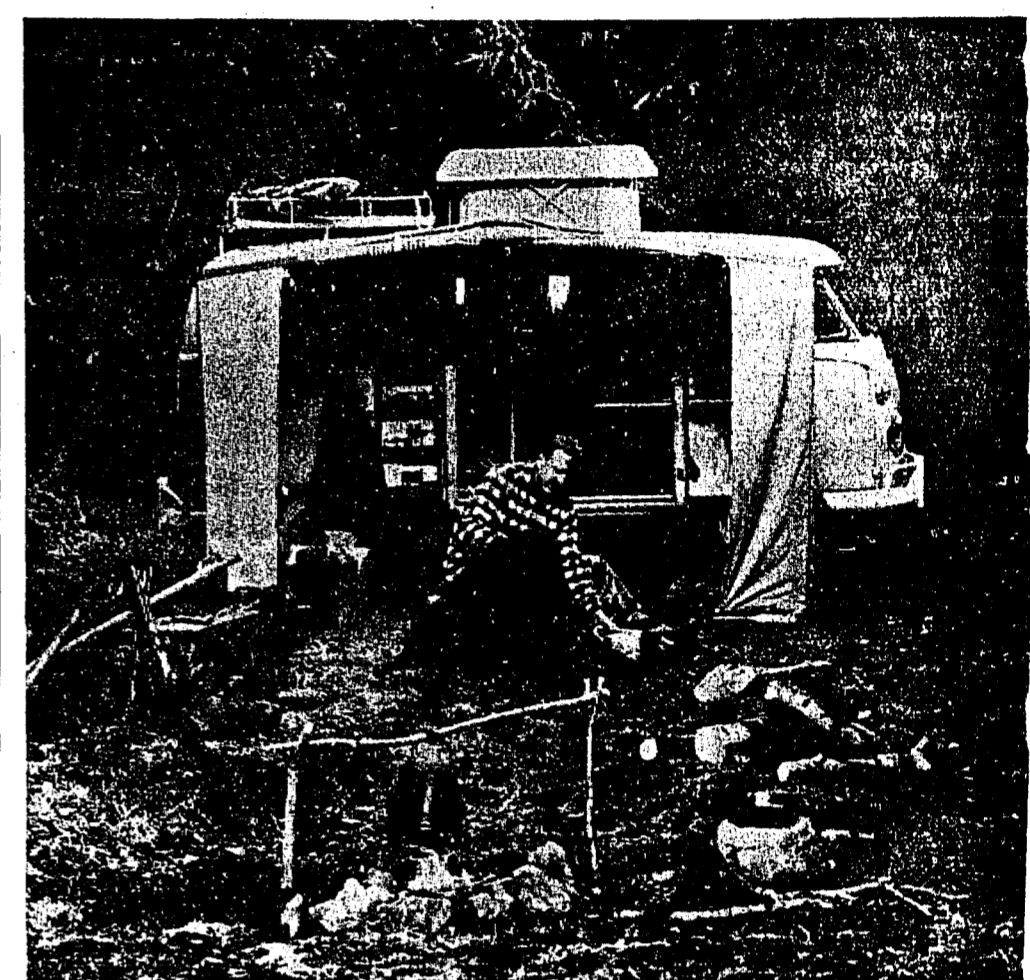

Local conferences will be led as follows: Nursery, Mrs. Vale Walkington, White Hall; Beginners, Mrs. Kenneth Sorden, Winchester; Primary, Mrs. Donald Gowin, Jacksonville; Junior, Mrs. V. H. Bentley Sr., White Hall and Intermediate, Mrs. George Warrell, White Hall.

The general conference for Vacation Bible school superintendents and pastors will be led by Rev. Kenneth Sorden of Winchester, who also serves as the superintendent of Sunday school work in the Sandy Creek unit.

Member churches have been asked to send representatives to each conference. There will be sack lunch at noon with the host church providing beverages.

Rev. Leroy Hedrick is pastor of North East Baptist church.

What's in it for the wife?

The Volkswagen Campmobile is for wives who'd rough it, if roughing it weren't so rough.

If your wife likes her great outdoors a touch more civilized, our Campmobile gives her the following touches (as standard equipment):

A double bed (for 2 adults). A hammock sleeps one child and a bench sleeps another. An icebox with water tank and pump. A dining table. 2 fold-away utility tables. Louvered screened windows. 2 reading lights.

There's a clothes closet. A linen closet. 5 storage cabinets, and a 3-shelf pantry.

Fiber glass insulation keeps it cool when it's hot. And vice versa.

Your wife can't spend much time cleaning the walls (they're paneled in birch-grain plywood) or floor (it's carpeted with a textured vinyl compound) or upholstery (that's vinyl too).

Options include a side-mounted tent that sleeps 2 more adults, and a ventilated roof section that pops up an extra 2 feet for increased headroom.

We put all these things in the VW Campmobile for her, just so we could get one thing in it for you: Your wife.

'God Is Dead' Chants Choir As Drums Beat

By JAY BOWLES
ATHENS, Tenn. (AP) — Curtains were drawn, dim lights produced a gloomy atmosphere and drums sounded the death march as students filed into the chapel at Tennessee Wesleyan College.

"God is dead," chanted the black-robed choir. "There are no words of assurance, for there is no one to assure us," Chaplain Doug Lewis told the 400 students.

The chapel service, which has drawn both positive and negative reaction in this small community, was designed to confront the students with the decision on whether God was a reality in their lives.

Chaplain Lewis thinks it served its purposes "in many respects."

"I've been considering it for a good while, ever since the 'God is dead' movement became pronounced," Lewis said. "In addition to presenting a challenge to the students, I wanted to show how the particular faith or theology of a community always is incorporated into its liturgy."

The readings included one from the writings of Frederick Nietzsche, a 19th century German philosopher who wrote that there was no God.

A student stood up in the congregation at a prearranged point. "Isn't what we're doing here today hypocritical?" he asked.

"Perhaps what we are doing today is being more honest than we usually are because, in fact, God is dead for many of us," replied the chaplain.

"Can you prove God is dead?" the student asked. "Not any more than I can prove that He is alive, if you mean by proof some kind of scientific facts," Lewis answered.

The benediction? "Is God dead? It is you who must decide. It is you who must seek God or be sought by Him. Now go in peace if you can. Go in agony if you must. But go with the knowledge that each of you must search the depths of your own existence and be confronted by it. It is you who must decide if God is dead."

Crimsons Gain Regional Crown On 68-61 Victory

Calhoun Cops Title In 2 Overtimes 44-43

By TERRY SHAW

WHITE HALL — Calhoun, the school that hadn't won a Regional tournament in nine years, did it Friday night by upsetting Pleasant Hill, 44-43, in a game that went into a double overtime.

Calhoun took the Regional title the hard way, starting off with a 59-53 upset victory over Carrollton, then upsetting first ranked Jerseyville 67-63 Thursday night to gain the playoffs.

The Warriors finally upset second-ranked Pleasant Hill in a game that went into two overtimes before Mike Devening hit two free throws with 40 seconds to go in the game.

The Wolves from Pleasant Hill outshot Calhoun from the floor 35-24, but Calhoun sank 19 field goals while Pleasant Hill hit only 14. Pleasant Hill connected on nine more tries from the line than did the Warriors, but the five extra Calhoun free throws turned out to be the decisive factor.

The Warriors outrebounced the Wolves 28-25, and did a particularly good job on the offensive boards as they grabbed off 17 of their own missed shots. The Wolves lost the ball 11 times on turnovers, and the Warriors turned the ball over without a shot, 10 times.

Calhoun was sparked by the play of Howard Long, Roger Longnecker, Vern Bettis and Devening. Long was high for the Warriors with 13 and played a good aggressive game under the boards. Longnecker and Devening hit for 12 apiece, and between them accounted for all the Calhoun scoring for the first 11 minutes of the second half.

Bettis, a scrappy little guard, scored only two points but came off the bench to play good tight defense all night, and near the end of the game when Calhoun coach Larry Curdman was trying to run out the clock, he called on the classy dribbling Bettis who kept the ball away from the Wolves for a minute at a time.

Larry Mooney, was the Wolves high man for the night with 11 points, and 6'5" center

Keith Johnson rebounded well and picked up nine points.

Warriors Hot Early Calhoun took a lead of 14-12 at the end of the first quarter as the Warriors shot a brisk 58% in the first frame and Howard Long picked up eight of his 13 points.

The Wolves struck back in the second frame, outscoring Calhoun 9-6 to give them a 21-20 halftime advantage.

The lead see-sawed back and forth in the third frame with Pleasant Hill finishing the quarter showing a two-point advantage. Devening, on the bench during the second period, came back in to score six points in the third frame, and Longnecker got six more to account for all of the Warriors' scoring.

With 19 seconds gone in the fourth quarter, Mark Browning hit a pair of free throws for the Wolves to give them a four point lead, 36-32. Devening and Longnecker combined for four points to tie it up, but the Wolves went back into the lead on a fall-away jump shot by Johnson.

Long scored for Calhoun on a field goal, Gary Barnes hit two field goals for the Wolves, and Long put one in from underneath for the Warriors to knot the score at 40-40 with 2:07 left on the clock.

Pleasant Hill brought the ball inbounds, but turned it over to Calhoun when they were unable to make it across the ten second stripe. Bettis took the ball down into the corner and hit his only field goal of the game to put Calhoun up by two with 32 seconds to play. The Wolves worked for the last shot, and with less than eight seconds showing, Larry Mooney hit it from the top of the key to put the game into overtime.

Work For Good Shot In the first overtime period, Calhoun got the tip and tried to work for the percentage shot. Bettis dribbled back and forth in the backcourt, and with a minute and four seconds gone called on the classy dribbling Bettis who kept the ball away from the Wolves for a minute at a time.

Rodgers missed his shot, and after Calhoun had also missed a free throw, the Warriors once again went into a stall revolving around Bettis' dribbling. Longnecker was fouled with four seconds to play, but missed his free throw, and a last second shot by Pleasant Hill bounced high off the rim, as the first overtime period ended with the score still standing at 42-42.

In the second extra period, Calhoun once again got the tip and went into their stall, but lost the ball on a bad pass by Bettis. Longnecker fouled Barnes of Pleasant Hill as Barnes was moving downcourt with the ball. Barnes hit one of two free throws to give the Wolves a 43-42 lead with just 47 seconds to play.

Browning of Pleasant Hill backed Devening working the ball down court, and Devening stepped to the line to hit both ends of the one and one to give the Warriors a one-point lead with 40 seconds to play.

The Wolves lost the ball out of bounds as they tried desperately to beat the Calhoun press for the winning basket. Calhoun brought the ball in, but couldn't get it across the ten second stripe.

With two seconds to play, Pleasant Hill had one more faint hope, but Bettis picked off the in-bounds pass as the buzzer sounded.

The Warriors are now 19-5 and will meet Jacksonville, 16-11, next Thursday night at 8:00 in the Jacksonville Sectional.

Pro Game Holds No Big Lure For 'Bear' Bryant

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — The bulging pocketbooks of the booming professional football game hold no lure for Paul (Bear) Bryant, coach of Alabama's national champions.

He prefers to stick with the college boys and his alma mater at Tuscaloosa.

"The pros do a terrific job, but they never interested me," the pride of Fordyce, Ark., said Friday. "I'd much rather coach the unfinished product."

"My biggest kick in this business is taking a boy not blessed with ability and watching him develop, through dedication and hard work, into a winning player."

"The pros can't give that to me."

Bryant, successful at Maryland, Kentucky and Texas A&M before returning to Alabama, for years has been rated one of the top coaches in college football.

Through the years, the pros have tried to draw him into the big time. The offers, never officially revealed, are reported to have been fabulous.

If quarterback Joe Namath is worth $400,000 to the New York Jets, wouldn't the man who helped fashion him be worth five times that figure? The Washington Redskins, who recently signed Otto Graham as coach, were particularly interested.

The Bear just wasn't interested.

"I've had offers," Bryant said. "The pros are not for me." Bryant's salary is said to be $25,000 a year. But he has his own television show in Tuscaloosa, is connected with a soft drink firm and has other sources of income.

Back are coach Rich Jones, Gary Ginder, Ron Coleman, Rich Coble, Duane Hess, Abe Brown and sophomore coach Phil Clary.

Saukees Cop Regional 55-47

PITTSFIELD — Steve Shaw netted seven of Pittsfield's free throws in the fourth period here Friday night, in leading the host Saukees to a 19-7 domination of the final quarter to gain a 55-47 triumph over Rushville for the Pittsfield regional crown.

The come - from - behind triumph saw the Saukees move from a 40-36 third stop deficit to a 42-40 lead with 6:00 to go, before building up a spread at the charity stripe to win going away.

Pittsfield now moves into the Jacksonville sectional where they will face Springfield here next Wednesday night.

Rushville grabbed the biggest lead either team enjoyed in the opening period via a 16-10 first stop bulge, and kept their six point lead in the second round for a 27-21 halftime count.

The 40% shooting Pittsfield unit cut the lead to 40-36 at the third turn, however, before bouncing back in the final stanza.

Shaw topped all scorers in the contest with 21, while Larry Ball tossed in 18 for the 34% shooting Rockets.

Pittsfield will now be taking a 19-8 record into the JHS regional, with the Rockets bowing out at a 15-11 status.

Jones: We Feel We Beat Good Team

By BUFORD GREEN

"We feel very lucky, and know we beat a very fine club," said Jacksonville High coach Rich Jones after the Crimsons' 68-61 Regional championship game Friday night.

"Coach Overturf has done a real fine job with that team. They could give anyone a lot of trouble. The game tonight could have gone either way. Their big boy (6-6) center Steve Larsen) being on the bench, the way he was controlling the boards on us, made a big difference."

"If he had been in their all the time they might have beaten us by six or eight points. Ron Coleman was able to stay in and do his usual job with his four fouls, while Larsen was not because he got his early. Larsen did a real fine job on the boards."

"I was also impressed with their three guards, and the team ran their patterns real well. They put up a real good press against us, going back to the quickness of their guards, Graves, Brunk, Davis and Reiterman. I didn't think their press hurt us a lot, but they were right there to take advantage of all our mistakes."

"I thought all our guys turned in a fine game. They all deserve a lot of credit. Coleman had a fine game and moved real well. Ginder hit some clutch baskets for us in the fourth quarter."

Virginia coach Larry Overturf, a first-year coach trying to bring the Redbirds' their first Regional title since 1942, had little to say except that he was mightily proud of pleased with all his charges.

"None of them have anything to be ashamed of for the game. Jacksonville has a fine club, and I feel that can make it to the Super-Sectional at least. That Coleman is a terrific player."

"I told the kids that if they could stay within ten points at halftime, we had a real good chance of taking it. We have averaged about 25 points in the third quarter all season, and we felt we could come back again."

Penn Ruled-Out Of NCAA Meet

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Pennsylvania has been ruled out of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament because officials there insist they "will not comply" with the NCAA's 1.6 academic legislation, NCAA headquarters reported Friday night.

The NCAA also has ruled that Yale is ineligible for NCAA championship events.

NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers said that telegrams received from Pennsylvania President Gaylord P. Harnwell and Kingman Brewster Jr., president of Yale, "confirm the earlier noncompliance telegrams of Feb. 23, by those institutions' respective athletic directors, Jeremiah Ford and Delaney Kiphuth."

"In light of this rigid position, the NCAA has no choice but to reverse the decision hopefully made earlier in the day that Penn was eligible for the NCAA basketball championship and that Yale also was in conformity with the 1.6 legislation," Byers said.

With the ruling, NCAA basketball tournament chairman Bernie A. Shively announced that Syracuse University has received a first-round bye and will advance directly to the NCAA East Regional Tournament at Raleigh, N.C., March 11-12.

Syracuse was to meet the Ivy League champion, Pennsylvania, in a first round game at Blacksburg, Va., March 7.

MALONEY REJECTS OFFER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Deron Johnson reported to the Cincinnati Reds spring training camp Friday that pitcher Jim Maloney again rejected the National League club's latest contract offer.

"I came to play. Wherever Don wants me, that's good enough for me," Johnson replied when asked about Manager Don Heffner's plans to switch him from third base to left field.

Phil Seghi, the Reds' assistant general manager, said a call to Maloney's home at Fresno, Calif., again failed to produce results. Maloney had a 20-9 record last season.

Coleman, Ginder Lead JHS Effort

By BUFORD GREEN

Journal-Courier Sports Editor

Clutch shooting by Ron Coleman and Gary Ginder saved Jacksonville in a tension-packed second half, as the Crimsons narrowly slipped by a fired-up Virginia outfit for a 68-61 victory and their third straight Regional title, before a full house at the JHS Bowl Friday night.

Seriously hampered by the loss of 6-6 center Steve Larsen for almost half the game, Virginia roared from 13 points behind in the third quarter to surge ahead and push the favored Crimsons down to the wire.

Coleman and Ginder, who combined for 51 of the winners' points in the game, scored 12 between them in a crucial stretch in the closing minutes to lift the hosts into a berth in their own Sectional next week against Calhoun, winner of the North Greene Regional.

The two Crimston standouts scored eight points apiece in the closing chapter, continually putting down Virginia threats in the final minutes. Bill Middleton, Steve Graves and Greg Reiterman kept Virginia in the race through the fourth period with clutch buckets, all from the outside.

Larsen, a tiger off the boards all evening, missed the final ten and a half minutes of the first half with three personals, then sat out just over four minutes of the second half after picking up his fourth. His absence each time saw Jacksonville break away from one-point deficits to sizeable leads.

Go To Control Game While Larsen was on the bench the entire second quarter, Virginia went into a control game, holding the ball at a distance to pass time while the rebounding stalwart was inactive. During that time JHS broke from a five-point lead to a 12-point bulge that was narrowed to eight at intermission.

Falling behind by 13 points early in the second quarter, Virginia's full-court press rattled Jacksonville into several floor errors and the surging Redbirds quickly put themselves back in the game. The third-quarter rally, led by Middleton, Larsen and Graves, lifted Virginia to a pair of two-point leads late in the third frame and the game stayed tight until the Crimsons managed to break it open in the final minute of play.

The action-packed contest between the first-ranked Crimsons and the third-seeded Redbirds, who reached the finals via a 79-65 upset of New Berlin in the semi-finals, was tight right from the beginning.

Coleman The Difference Coleman was the difference in the opening eight minutes, hitting ten points on five buckets and missing only two shots. The 6-2 standout gave Jacksonville a 7-2 lead in the opening 2:30 of play, and the Jacks appeared to be taking command early.

Middleton, Reiterman and Larsen got Virginia right back in the game with pressure buckets, but Jacksonville broke the Redbird full-court press three straight times down the floor for easy layups to keep the Crimsons on top.

Virginia forged into a 13-12 lead on Middleton's tip-in over two defenders, but Coleman broke the press single-handedly for an easy bucket and Ginder followed with two free tosses and Duane Hess canned a 20-footer for a 12-13 difference with 2:10 showing in the quarter.

Middleton and Coleman matched buckets in the remaining time and Jacksonville took a 20-15 margin into the second quarter, with Larsen on the bench.

Virginia decided to spend the second quarter with as little damage as possible, and held the ball out front for several long periods of time. While the Redbirds slowed down their style of play, Coleman hit a ten-footer and a free toss and Rich Coble swished a bucket for a 25-15 margin with four minutes showing.

Technical Hurts A technical foul whistled on Virginia for not moving the ball after being warned by the officials was turned into a bucket by Coleman and a 12-point difference with 2:49 left in the half.

Middleton finally got Virginia on the scoreboard in the second period and Graves followed with another with 40 seconds left to close the gap to 29-19. A 30-foot desperation shot by Graves as the buzzer sounded gave the Redbirds new life as they went in trailing by only eight points, 29-21.

For the first half Jacksonville hit a blazing 54% on 12 of 23 shots, seven of ten by Coleman for his 15 points. Virginia hit ten of its 26 shots from the field.

Jacksoville tried a press of its own to start the third round, and two straight steals were turned into buckets by Coble and Coleman, and Ginder hit a baseliner as the lead grew to 35-22 in the opening two minutes of play.

Still not out of the game, Virginia switched assignments on its press and quickly changed the tempo of the game.

Larsen Rules Boards Four times in the third quarter Larsen grabbed missed Virginia free throws and scored buckets, while Graves hit two buckets from 15 feet and added two free tosses.

Two strings of six straight points lifted Virginia back into contention at 38-38 with 2:36 left, as Reiterman hit from the deep corner to finish the spurt.

Ginder's corner bucket raised the lead back to five, but Graves and Larsen combined on a three-point maneuver for a 40-38 difference with 2:15 showing.

After Hess again hit from the outside, reserve Harold Davis canned two of two free throws and Graves threw in two beautiful buckets from 15 feet as Virginia swept into a 44-42 lead with 50 seconds to play.

Coleman cashed in on three charity chances to match one by Reg Brunk and the two clubs entered the final eight minutes tied at 45-45.

The game was tied at 47 and 49 in the early action of the final stanza, with Abe Brown's only bucket of the night giving JHS the lead for good at 51-49. Coleman's two free shots raised the difference to four points.

Stay Within Two Middleton, Brunk and Reiterman three times in succession brought Virginia to within two points, but Coleman and Ginder matched them each time to put Jacksonville up by 59-55 entering the final two minutes of the game.

The lead grew to six on Coleman's pair of charity stripe conversions, and later to nine on Ginder's three point play and two more free tosses by Coleman, 66-57, with only :43 showing.

For the game Jacksonville hit exactly 50% of its shots, 22 of 44, and was even more effective at the foul stripe where the Crimsons hit 24 of 29 for an 83% rate, led by Coleman's 12-13. Virginia managed a respectable 44% rate but missed eight of 17 free throws.

The taller Redbirds were out-rebounded by Jacksonville by a 30-26 difference.

Coleman led all scorers with 30 points, aided by Ginder's 21. Graves' 18 and Middleton's 14 led the losers, who ended the season with a 20-7 record. JHS is now 16-11.

Mason City Takes Havana Title, 74-70

HAVANA — Late free throw conversions by Bob Werner and John Conklin handed Mason City the Havana Regional championship here Friday night, as they held Athens scoreless in the final 1:30 to gain a 74-70 edge.

The win moves Mason City into Tuesday night's Macomb sectional action where they will take on Dallas City.

Werner and Conklin, who combined for 41-points in the encounter, each netted two charity tosses in the late action, after Athens had tied the contest at 70-70 with 1:41 remaining.

Athens grabbed a 17-14 advantage during the first eight minutes, but fell to a 36-34 half-time deficit as Conklin connected for two free throws with one to go in the half. Conklin, who had previously recorded 29 and 36 point nights in the regional, tallied eight in the second quarter to lead the charge.

Both clubs recorded 12 points during the third frame, before Athens tied the count at 52-52 with 6:00 remaining to be played.

Conklin led all scorers for the night with 21, while Jim Carter paced Athens' four men in double figures with 19.

The win leaves Mason City with a 23-3 record going into sectional action.

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (NEA) — Duffy Daugherty, the Michigan State football coach, installed a pool table in his home and immediately was besieged with questions. "It's mainly for my kids," Duffy explained. "I want them to have the same start in life that I did."

It is all handicap, 75% figured by taking the bowler's average from 200.

Carl Elliott, bowling in the Friday Three Man Scratch League at the Bowling Center won a new sport coat courtesy of Capps & Sons LTD. Carl bowled a Dutch 200 Friday night. A Dutch 200 is a game where a bowler must have a strike or a spare in the first frame and then alternate them all he way. Capps gives a sport coat to any bowler bowling a Dutch 200 in league play.

Second-Rated York Falls In Regional

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Benton, the state's top-ranked basketball team came up with a 61-46 victory over West Frankfort for a regional championship Friday night but second-ranked York slumped to defeat in the Illinois high school basketball showdown.

Benton boosted its record to 28-0 at the expense of West Frankfort and advanced to the Harrisburg Sectional to meet Mount Vernon with its so-so 15-13 record.

York had compiled a 25-0 mark before suffering a 78-75 defeat at the hands of Wheaton Central.

Collinsville, the defending state champion, bolstered its ranking as the No. 5 team with a 64-62 victory over tenacious Madison, and Thornton, ranked No. 3, rolled past Thornridge, 70-45.

Seventh ranked Pekin, the 1964 champion, slipped past Limestone 65-52 to boost its record to 24-3 while eighth-ranked Bradley humbled Bloom 65-55 to win its own regional and advance to the Blue Island Sectional to face Thornton.

Benton took a 13-point lead early in the game and held on the rest of the way as three men scored in double figures. Rich Yunkus led the way with 28 points.

York's defeat left Benton as the state's only undefeated team. York led throughout most of the game until Wheaton Central tied the score at 71-71. Rick Bailey's two points from the line in the last minute clinched it for the Wheaton team.

Frank Loening led the startling upset with 26 points and Bailey added 16.

Chris Schweer was high for York with 27 but 6-8 Larry Saunders was limited to 15 points.

Collinsville, remaining in the running for a second straight title, held off Madison's rush in the fourth quarter. With 10 seconds to play, the score was tied but Dennis Arnold's basket won it for the Kahoks. Ron Burton scored 25 points and Arnold finished with 24.

A 35-foot basket by Rufus Woods with two seconds to play carried North Chicago to a 43-42 victory over Waukegan in one of the night's tighter games. Woods topped all scorers with 20 points.

Centuria, unranked but always a threat, defeated Mater Dei 74-65 for its 22nd consecutive regional title. The Orphans will go up against Carbondale in the Carbondale Sectional. Carbondale eliminated Marion 68-62.

One of the few upsets was recorded at Flora where Clay City ousted Effingham 62-46 as Rod Dorris scored 22 points. Clay City will take a respectable 24-2 record against Charleston's 24-3 mark in the Paris Sectional.

Charleston dumped Paris 58-37 to win the Marshall Regional championship.

Belleville, the No. 4 team in the state, cruised past Cahokia for a 72-58 triumph and advanced to the East St. Louis Sectional. Belleville will take a 20-4 record against experienced Collinsville.

Galesburg, ranked sixth, coasted past Costa 78-66 as sophomore Rol McDougald pitched in 24 points and Dale Kelley added 20. Wenona bombed Toluca 80-58 for the Henry Regional title as Dale Basis scored 32 to give Wenona its 17th straight victory.

Quincy, ranked No. 11, smashed past Christian Bros., 70-46, and 12th ranked Rockford West downed Rockford Auburn 74-63.

Baseball Signings

MIAMI (AP) — Brooks Robinson, all-star third baseman for the Baltimore Orioles, came to contract terms for an estimated $55,000 annually Friday, reducing Baltimore holdouts to two.

This would be a $5,000 increase over the approximately $50,000 he earned last season, when he led the third-place Orioles in batting, .297; runs, 81; hits, 166; and runs batted in, 80.

Baltimore's two remaining holdouts are slugging right fielder Frank Robinson, obtained from the Cincinnati Reds during the winter, and second baseman Jerry Adair, who made $20,000 last year and reportedly wants $7,000 more.

A committee, composed of Mrs. Mary Ann Moore, Mrs. Lyndall Andras and Mrs. Tressa Brown, was named to write by-laws for the society.

The society will meet Tuesday afternoon at the church to roll bandages for White Cross. Plans are being made for a mother-daughter banquet in May and a party in June for graduates.
